WHATSAPP PRIVACY POLICY ON HOLD TILL NEW LAW COMES IN

Until the data protection bill comes into force, WhatsApp won't force users to opt for its new policy, it told Delhi HC

WON'T LIMIT THE APP'S FUNCTIONALITY

WhatsApp clarified that it won't limit the app's functionality for users not opting for new policy, in the meantime. "Government has asked to shut down the policy. We have said we won't enforce it till Data Protection Bill comes out. If the Bill allows me to do it, we'll have entirely different ramifications," senior counsel Harish Salve, appearing for Whatsapp, said

NO BASIS FOR PROBE NOW, SAYS SALVE

NEET likely to be postponed, NTA to take final call

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @New Delhi

THE August 1 date for the National Eligibility-cum-Entrance Test (NEET) is likely to be changed, though the National Testing Agency, which administers the test, has not made a final decision, sources told this newspaper. The test could be held in September, if the Covid situation in the country remains conducive, sources said.

"As of now we are consulting all the stakeholders involved, including the National Medical Commission," said a senior NTA official. The matter will be discussed with the newly-inducted Education and Health Ministers—Dharendra Pradhan and Mansukh Mandaviya—in the coming days, sources said, adding that sufficient time will be given to candidates to register and prepare for the competitive exam. "We understand that there is a lot of anxiety among students as the registrations for the examination are yet to begin. However, we need to strike a balance between the safety of the candidates and academic calendars of medical colleges," the source added.

Last year, NEET was held on September 13, in the middle of the first wave of the pandemic, despite widespread protests to defer it. The results were declared a month later. This year too, many students have taken to social media demanding that the exam be pushed to a later date.

Registration for NEET normally begins 60 days prior to the test date. It has not begun yet. With the announcement of the dates for the third and fourth sessions of JEE (Main), there have been speculations that NEET too could be held in a month.

The April and May sessions of the JEE (Main) examination will now be held between July 20 and August 2.

Authorities said since JEE (Main) is a computer-based test and is held over several days, it is easier to manage crowds at test centres. In contrast, NEET is a paper-based test and will see more than 12 lakh students taking it across the country on the same day.

Green light for Covaxin likely in 4-6 weeks: WHO expert

CHETANA BELAGERE @Bengaluru

THE World Health Organisation (WHO) is likely to take a decision on including Bharat Biotech's Covaxin in its list of vaccines approved for emergency use, in four to six weeks, the world body's Chief Scientist Dr Soumya Swaminathan has said. A WHO pre-qualification, or Emergency Use Listing, is necessary for a vaccine manufacturer to supply vaccines to global entities such as COVAX or even internationally.

At a webinar organised by the Centre for Science and Environment (CSE) on Friday, Dr Swaminathan explained that the company needs to complete its phase-3 trials and submit the whole dossier to the regulatory department of the WHO. This is then examined by an expert advisory group and, based on completeness of the data, which includes safety and efficacy, manufacturing quality standards, etc., the approval is granted.

"I understand that Bharat Biotech is in this process and I think a decision on their case is likely in the next four to six weeks," said Dr Soumya Swaminathan.

Experts insisted that the only way to contain the virus from continuing to spread is to share vaccines and beat the "vaccine apartheid." CONTINUED ON: P3

Port and air traffic, manufacturing and services yet to pick up momentum; inflation worry stays

Economy revival remains bumpy

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

THE economy showed signs of revival in June from the adverse impact of the Covid-19 second wave, but recovery was uneven with manufacturing and services sectors among the laggards while inflation remained a matter of concern, the Finance Ministry said in its latest monthly economy report.

"Recovery remains uneven with indicators such as port traffic, air traffic, PMI Manufacturing and Services demonstrating lagged revival from the impact of second wave. Latest industrial production estimates show sequential moderation in growth of India's eight core industries at 16.8% YoY in May 2021, 8% lower than pre-Covid May 2019 level," the report said.

However, it expressed optimism that recent policy measures will accelerate the pace of recovery. "Resilient tax collections of the Central Government in the first two months of FY 2020-21 and sustained momentum in capital expenditure, particularly in the road and rail sector, augurs well for pivoting targeted fiscal support for continued economic recovery," it said.

Going forward, the ministry feels investment in flagship schemes will further enhance consumption. "Consumption sentiment is expected to pick up with further enhancement of employment support under Aatma Nirbhar Bharat Rozgar Yojana (ANBRY) and wider Bharat-Net digitisation coverage."

Crude rates may hurt inflation

Unlocking states with declining caseload would mitigate cost pressures. But rising global commodity prices could impact inflation, the report said

But worries on supply side bottlenecks and inflation remained. "A positive price momentum cutting across food, fuel and core categories, along with an unfavourable base effect contributed to this rise in headline inflation. Inflation in rural areas at 6.48% was higher than in urban areas at 6.04% in May 2021," the report pointed out, attributing it to rising global crude oil prices and a low base effect.

Recently, all core sub-groups registered a pick-up in inflation like in clothing and footwear, household goods and services as well as personal care items.

CHINA FREES UP $154 BN TO SUPPORT SMALL BIZ

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

AMID signs of flagging economic recovery, China on Friday slashed its reserve requirement ratio (RRR) by 0.5 percentage points, which will free up $154 billion for banks and pump more liquidity into the system.

The country took a similar decision in April last year during the first Covid wave peak.

The cut aims to help smaller businesses, boost domestic consumption and address the negative impact of rising raw material prices on small businesses.

According to a report by HSBC, supply-chain constraints and production bottlenecks have fuelled inflationary pressures, hurting small businesses. And surging commodity prices increased operating costs, especially for smaller China firms.

On Friday, the National Bureau of Statistics reported that China's producer-price index rose 8.8% in June from a year earlier, but lower than May's year-on-year rise of 9.0%.

Experts claim cutting RRR will help India indirectly by easing of cost of imports. "Both economies are different and not comparable. While China is continuously injecting liquidity, this move will certainly help in softening of global commodity price and help many nations that depend on Chinese imports," a senior official from the commerce ministry said.

Time for Uniform Civil Code in the country: Delhi HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE Uniform Covil Code was back on the fruntburner with a Delhi High Court judge directing the Centre to take necessary measures to implement it.

The order came in response to a question on the applicability of the Hindu Marriage Act, 1955 to members of the Meena community. While the verdict was delivered on July 7, it was made public on Friday.

Justice Prathiba M Singh said the Indian society is gradually becoming more and more homogeneous, and traditional barriers such as religion, community, and caste are dissipating. As such, a uniform civil code is in order, she said.

'UCC should not remain mere hope'

The hope expressed in Article 44 of the Constitution that the State shall secure for its citizens Uniform Civil Code should not remain a mere hope, the Delhi High Court noted

A Uniform Civil Code provides for a uniform law for the entire country, applicable to members of all religious communities in their personal matters such as marriage, divorce, inheritance, adoption etc. Currently, different religious laws like Hindu Marriage Act, Hindu Succession Act, Indian Christian Marriages Act etc regulate these matters. Muslim personal laws are not codified and are based on their religious texts.

In the 27-page judgment, Justice Singh observed that courts have repeatedly been confronted with conflicts that arise out of a clash of personal laws. People belonging to various communities, castes, and religions, who forge marital bonds, struggle with such conflicts.

"The youth of India belonging to various communities, tribes, castes, or religions who solemnise their marriages ought not to be forced to struggle with issues arising due to conflicts in various personal laws," Justice Singh said. "Such a civil code would be common to all," the court said.

Four officials dismissed for causing loss to govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Shivamogga/Chikkamagaluru

THE State Government has dismissed Sringeri sub-registrar H S Cheluvaraju, S N Prabha, sub-registrar at the head office, and two second division assistants (SDAs) from service for "cheating" the government by tampering with challans during their posting at the sub-registrar's office in Mandya.

Cheluvaraju, when he was Sringeri sub-registrar, had filed a case against Revenue Minister R Ashoka's 'secretary' Gangadhara B for allegedly demanding money from him and threatening him when he reportedly refused to pay up.

However, his dismissal from service was in connection with the challan tampering case, which was ordered for investigation on November 13, 2006. P4

Can convince farmers, not those who are politically motivated, says Shobha

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

ON her second day in office as Minister of State for Agriculture and Farmer Welfare, Shobha Karandlaje seems to have hit the ground running when she termed the ongoing farmers' protest at Delhi's borders as "politically motivated".

Insisting that the three agriculture laws will be beneficial for farmers, the minister said she also hails from a farmer's family. "As a government, we can hold talks with farmers, respond to their problems and solve them. but we can't solve politics. The protests are politically motivated. It is not the farmers who are protesting the laws. it is politically motivated persons using farmers as an excuse. These three laws will not be repealed. We will go to farmers and explain the benefits," she told the media in New Delhi.

Although Karandlaje has made similar comments in the past, her remarks as MoS for farmer welfare has not gone down well with the farming community

"Her comments expose her ignorance about the issue. As a minister, she should be working towards holding talks with farmers and arriving at a solution instead of taunting and ridiculing us," warned Kodihalli Chandrasekhar, president, Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha and Hasiru Sene.

Pomegranate farmer destroys crop to cut losses

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @ Belagavi

FARMERS in several parts of the state are facing huge losses due to a sharp fall in prices, coupled with a lack of demand for their produce. Compounding their problems, crops hit by diseases are making the situation further worse.

Unable to sustain the losses he suffered due to various reasons despite a bumper yield of pomegranate cultivated on two acres, farmer Navnath of Ajur, near Athani, destroyed all his crop. He could neither get decent returns nor protect his plantation from diseases, forcing him to take the drastic step.

According to officials, several horticulture plantations in the district are damaged due to the uncontrolled spread of diseases of late. Such diseases are the result of adverse climatic conditions, they said. CONTINUED ON: P4

Bars, restaurants open cautiously

Offer discounts for those jabbed; many see decent footfalls; citizens preferring open spaces

BALA CHAUHAN @ BENGALURU

BARS and restaurants in the city (CL9 licensees) have opened up, albeit with caution, after the government relaxed the lockdown norms early this week and permitted them to resume business between 11.30 am and 9 pm with 50 per cent occupancy and strict Covid protocols.

With their staff vaccinated with at least one dose of the anti-Covid vaccine, most bars and restaurants are also trying to convey the message to their customers that getting vaccinated and wearing masks are the best ways to beat the virus. Some of them are even offering 5 and 10 per cent discounts for those vaccinated with one and two doses, respectively.

"We have posted on social media that we are offering discounts for those who are partially or fully vaccinated. Our slogan is 'maximum safety, maximum discount'," said Amit Roy of Watson's, a popular chain of bars in Bengaluru.

Restaurants are spreading the message of getting vaccinated | EXPRESS

After being closed for more than two months, bars and fine dining outlets are seeing a "fair" amount of footfalls. While many of them opened on Monday after ensuring that their staffers are vaccinated and their outlets sanitized, some bars and restaurants opened only on Friday.

Some outlets, however, continue to remain shut, mainly because of staff crunch. "We have opened only our first floor for business because I haven't yet got my entire staff back. Some of them are from North-East and Tamil Nadu," said Arvind Raju of The Biere Club. "The ground floor is shut because it is air-conditioned. We will operate on first and second floor, but because of staff crunch, we have opened only one floor," he added.

While Bengalureans are stepping out for a meal and drink, they are opting for open spaces. "We are launching Suzy-Q with a lot of open dining area and all Covid SOPs," said Anirudh Kheny. Suzy-Q was inaugurated on Friday.

Narayan Manepally of Geist Brewing agreed with Kheny and said that after over two months, people want to step for a meal and prefer an outdoor setting. "It's heartening to see the turnout since the lifting of the lockdown. Those who are stepping out may have got their vaccination and are confident to come out," said Narayan.

While the hospitality industry has resumed business, they are extremely wary of a third wave. "It's too early to say how things will shape up in the near future. But, as of now, we have decent footfall," said Mukesh Tolani of Toit, Indiranagar.

"We did a soft launch on Thursday and we were delighted with the turnout of guests on Day One. I am not sure how things will shape out. We have been through very rough times," said Gaurav Sikka of ABC microbrewery. The government has allowed CL9 licencees to open shop, but pubs serving only draught beer (retail vend of beer) continue to remain shut.

Need more time to prepare for Math paper: Students

Students sought more time for practising Mathematics and pointed out the problem in having an objective-type paper for a subject where methodology could help them score marks. They also sought more time for answering mathematics paper. Another student from Hassan asked the minister if the examination could be more spread out — over three days, rather than two, so there is enough time for preparation.

An official said that the questions for mathematics paper have been designed in such a way that students can answer them in under one minute.

They complained about poor connectivity in rural areas. Kumar said many children in rural areas were deprived of tools for alternative learning methods such as television, mobile and laptop. The tiger's front left limb and left eye were severly injured

Injured tiger being brought to Bengaluru for treatment dies

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AN injured male tiger, around 4-5 years, that was being shifted from Bandipur Tiger Reserve to Bannerghatta Rescue Centre for treatment, died en route on Friday. The carcass of the tiger was immediately taken back to Bandipur for post mortem and him last rites were conducted as per procedure.

Bandipur Tiger Reserve Director S R Natesh said the tiger had suffered grievous injuries in an infight and was in a very bad condition. To save it from getting into the hands of poachers, permission was sought from chief wildlife warden to shift him to Bannerghatta for treatment and rehabilitation.

It was first sighted on July 7 and was under close watch. He was unable to move because of the injuries. A bait was also used to draw it into the cage, but that also failed, hence it was decided to dart and capture it. The animal was darted on July 9 morning. After checking his vitals and giving him first aid, it was being sent to Bannerghatta, but it died near Mallavalli, around 4.30 pm. The animal was moving in a high security convoy to ensure that there are no untoward incidents, under strict medical supervision.

Forest department veterinarians said the tiger's condition was critical. "Usually, injured animals are left to fend for themselves and die a natural death. However, this tiger was in a very bad condition and was severely dehydrated. The staffers wanted to give it a chance to survive," a staff veterinarian said.

Yelahanka power plant to begin operations from Nov

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

YELAHANKA combined cycle gas power plant of Karnataka Power Supply Corporation (KPCL) — that witnessed a fire accident in October last year — is likely to commence operations from November this year. KPCL Managing Director V Ponnuraj, after visiting the site on Friday, told TNIE that there was a delay in operations due to the accident.

"BHEL and GE, who will be operating the plant, are working on the repairs and replacement of parts. They are also bearing the charges of repairs. He said there was no large damage to the unit and the restoration work is happening in full swing," he said.

The plant capacity is 370 MW, of which around 210 MW is gas-based generation and 160 MW is steam-based. A plant official said the generation on the first day and the subsequent days will depend on the availability in the grid. "Though there is no worry in gas-based generation, steam will depend upon the grid," he added.

However, locals have been appealing at many forums to shut the plant, especially after the incident of October 2, 2020, where 15 on-site staffers suffered injuries. They have been asking to shift the plant elsewhere as it violates environmental laws.

The KPCL is also behind schedule in starting operations of the unit.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

10th July: Some people think that astrology is all about the influence of the stars and planets on life on earth. Not so! In fact, according to the ancient theories, everything in the universe is part of one interdependent whole, so every part of the cosmos interacts with every other part all the time in one grand, beautiful, pattern.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You may have been having a bumpy ride in a relationship recently, but there's no doubt that you are quite capable of giving as good as you get. Leave intensely personal affairs on one side and get on with the business of day-to-day survival.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Today's lunar patterns combine a need for relaxation with a desire to stay active. The best way to enjoy yourself should therefore be to pursue a number of your favourite interests or hobbies. After all, a little bit of what you fancy does you good.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
This is traditionally a day for fiddling around at home, completing chores of no great consequence. I have to report that, unexciting as the prospect may be, this is indeed due to be a day to perform necessary, if unglamorous, duties. You'll have fun later.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Certain facts of life are inevitable for all those born under the sign of the Crab. For example, you often experience emotional conflicts and insecurities which you find it difficult to talk about. Now is the time to start bringing such deep feelings into the open.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
You have a tendency at the moment to bury your head in the sand and ignore certain warning signals. Try to follow your intuitions and listen to your dreams. The messages will be very subtle but, if you pay careful attention, you'll get an entirely different slant on what's happening.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
It's heavy going, I know. But according to the stars you are in control at home. You can translate your celestial potential into reality by making sure that family members and anyone else you live with do what they're told! Financial pressures are high, but family and property deals can be left until the end of next week.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
A number of planets are lined up in generally positive formations, and Venus, that most graceful and charming celestial body, is now coming to your aid, making your day-to-day affairs that much more pleasant. However, if it comes to extending goodwill, you have to make the first move.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
It is indeed a fine moment to indulge in practical chores especially if you're teaming up with other people. DIY activities are favoured, as are casual and low-key social gatherings. But, also, it seems to me, are relationships in which you are actively helping partners achieve their ideals.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Do not let a minor matter depress you. Rather than dwelling on secret problems you should set about tackling them with all the practical skill and experience at your disposal. Seek expert assistance where necessary, for I do not think you can do everything by yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Opportunities for progress and growth are often disguised as challenges which at first seem to be nothing more than difficulties or problems. However, such tricky situations should be seen as the grit which produces the pearl in the oyster.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Devote a little time and energy to spending and investments, no matter how small or apparently unimportant. Social engagements will be most enjoyable if they're of a slightly traditional, restrained nature. This means that adventurous activities could be off the agenda.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Social gatherings should veer towards the large and impersonal rather than the small and intimate. Important money decisions ought to have been taken by now. Take an unfussy and down-to-earth approach in all personal discussions. The clearer you are, the happier partners will be.

WITH KERALA ZIKA CASE, GOVT UPS VIGIL

Measures include surveillance of Aedes mosquito and larvae, biological and chemical control

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

In view of the Zika virus case reported in Kerala, routine surveillance activity in rural areas by ASHA workers and health assistants, and fortnightly surveillance activity in urban wards will be implemented on a war footing in Karnataka. The border districts of Dakshina Kannada, Udupi and Chamarajanagar have been advised to be more vigilant.

"The current monsoon season supports the widespread proliferation of the Aedes mosquito, which is a vector for the Zika virus," stated a circular from the health commissionerate. The Zika virus symptoms are fever, rashes, conjunctivitis, joint pain etc. District Vector Borne Disease Control officers have been instructed to intensify vector management through environmental modification or manipulation, surveillance of both adult mosquito and larvae, adopting personal protection measures, and biological and chemical control at the household, community and institutional level.

"Aedes larval surveillance and source reduction activities in airports, sea ports, harbour, villages and wards in a 2-km vicinity should be carried out with necessary vigil," the circular read, adding that travel history or visit of guests may also be considered for suspecting Zika. The samples will be sent to the National Institute of Virology, Bengaluru.

During ultrasound scanning for pregnant women, focus should be on presence of microcephaly. If detected, the serum sample of pregnant women must be sent to NIV. Data should be captured weekly, regarding deliveries at private and government health centres, as well as home deliveries. Details of babies born with microcephaly are to be reported, and samples sent to NIV.

"Ensure availability of logistics such as adulticide and larvicide at all levels. Conduct collaboration meetings with urban development, rural development, education, industry, panchayati raj, municipal corporations departments, emphasizing their role in prevention and control of vector-borne diseases, including Zika," the circular said.

Prof Shabir A Madhi, Professor of Vaccinology and Director of the SAMRC Vaccines and Infectious Diseases Analytical Research Unit, University of the Witwatersrand, said, "Countries like South Africa have been unable to get access to adequate numbers of Covid-19 vaccines. This has been due to the inequitable distribution of vaccines around the world."Dr Soumya too pointed out that it was frustrating that countries are contemplating and testing booster doses for themselves when large parts of the world, especially Africa, hadn't yet got vaccinated.

The target was to have at least 10 per cent of the world population fully vaccinated by September and 40 per cent by December. But it is unlikely that the world will be sufficiently protected, at least for the next year-and-a-half, and 'herd immunity', when a substantial number of people are protected by antibodies, is only likely when 80 per cent has been vaccinated, she said. She explained that the immediate option before the world is for countries which have achieved at least 40-60 per cent inoculation of their population, to start sharing the doses with others and also follow all Covid-19 protocols. "India can help set up manufacturing centres and share technology on other indigenous vaccines with countries like Africa and others," Dr Soumya said. The experts warned that politicians must stop advocating vaccinations, promising herd immunity.

"If politicians promise that vaccinating 80 per cent of the population can achieve herd immunity, then, when we see resurgence in cases, public confidence in vaccines will go away," Dr Madhi pointed out. He explains that herd immunity of 80 per cent is not in one country, but across the globe, which, according to him, is impossible for the next 3-4 years.

The experts on the panel suggested that the conversation should now be steered away from herd immunity towards emphasising on personal protection achieved through vaccination.

RAMPING UP TESTING

'Rising cases in Kerala, Maharashtra a worry'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE rising Covid cases in Maharashtra and Kerala is a matter of worry not just for Bengaluru, but the state also. "The worry has only increased with Zika virus cases being reported in Kerala," BBMP chief commissioner Gaurav Gupta said on Friday.

He said the positivity rate in the city and state is less than two per cent, but in Maharashtra and Kerala it is around four per cent and 10 per cent, respectively. Thus, people coming from there are a matter of concern. As per the decision of the government, testing is being done and select samples of those who tested positive are being sent for genome sequencing, he added.

Speaking to media, he said that cases are rising in some wards, especially Mahadevapura and in East Bengaluru zones. Home visits are being intensified. Also intensive check on quarantine, home isolation and testing is being done, he said.

Meanwhile, Gupta also said the lease agreement of around many properties had expired and the BBMP was working towards recovering them as the properties were required for BBMP and public other works in this time of crises. He added that a check on all these cases was being done.

Meanwhile, the case fatality rate in the past seven days has been more then 10 per cent in districts like Haveri, Dharwad and Ballari. MB PATIL-BSY MEET RAISES EYEBROWS

Cong MLA says he sought aid for filling tanks in Indi taluk; visit sets off buzz of BJP wooing him

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FORMER Minister for Home and Water Resources and Congress Lingayat strongman MB Patil on Friday dropped a surprise by visiting Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa's residence. Patil, MLA from Babaleshwar, maintained that the visit was official, and its purpose was to draw the CM's attention to the water needs of drought-hit villages in Indi taluk. "I made a request for financial assistance to provide irrigation to drought-hit villages of Indi taluk by filling 16 tanks from the Krishna river through the Tidagundi aqueduct. He has informally agreed to the same," Patil told the media after the meeting.

The Congress leader added that the aqueducts were approved during his ministership, but had been lying useless despite being constructed due to lack of funds. Within hours, Yediyurappa directed the water resources department to act on the issue and a letter was shot off to the Krishna Region Water Board, seeking the cost of the works -- about Rs 140 crore -- be included under expenditure estimate for Upper Krishna Project Phase-3.

Patil was prompt to thank Yediyurappa for acting quickly.

Patil's visit and its timing assume importance, given that Yediyurappa and his supporters are working towards retaining the support of the Lingayat community and seers with him. Patil's unannounced visit has also reignited murmurs of him being approached by the BJP to join its fold.

His visit also takes the limelight off of the incessant sparring between supporters of CLP leader Siddaramaiah and KPCC president DK Shivakumar in the Congress over the party's next chief ministerial candidate. Patil also nurses aspirations of being considered for the top post.

His meet with Yediyurappa also comes at a time when BJP's Basanagouda Patil Yatnal -- another Lingayat leader -- has been publicly seeking Yediyurappa's ouster.

NIRANI FOLLOWS YATNAL TO DELHI, RENUKA ALSO BOOKING TICKET

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

There appears to be an exodus of sorts from Bengaluru to New Delhi, as the rumbling dissidence in the BJP refuses to die down. Two days after dissident BJP MLA Basanagouda Yatnal made a hush-hush visit to the capital, minister Murugesh Nirani rushed off to Delhi on Friday. The visits come ten days after another dissident minister, C P Yogeeshwara, had boarded a flight to Delhi.

Not to be left out of all this toing and fro-ing, Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa's political secretary M P Renukacharya has said that he too will head to Delhi with representatives from Kalyana Karnataka, Mumbai Karnataka, Madhya Karnataka and Dakshina Karnataka, to speak to the party high command and inform the leaders about dissidents making statements against the state leadership and CM. The big question is: Why is everyone making a beeline for Delhi, and who are they meeting? Curiously, all these journeys are taking place just a few weeks after BJP General Secretary Arun Singh's visit to Bengaluru to deal with dissension in the party, when he had met most of the dissenters. Yediyurappa and his team are banking on Arun Singh to present their case, especially as he is said to have a good rapport with the central leadership.

Party sources said the leaders who head to Delhi primarily seek to meet BJP President J P Nadda, General Secretary (organisation) B L Santhosh, who is from Karnataka, or Home Minister Amit Shah. But when they are denied access to the big three, they try to meet Arun Singh or senior party functionaries in Delhi to express their grievances -- that the party has not called for a Legislative Party meeting for close to two years, that Yediyurappa's family members interfere in governance, and that the state leadership has reached some sort of equation with opposition leaders. All these grievances have been raised many times over.

While Yatnal, Yogeeshwara, Aravind Bellad and AH Vishwanath are in touch with each other constantly, Murugesh Nirani appears to be the lone wolf, who is said to be on good terms with Shah and other Delhi leaders. Nirani sees Yatnal and Bellad as rivals, because all three are Lingayat Panchamsalis.

Terdal BJP MLA Siddu Savadi was also seen in the party office in Delhi on Friday.

At a time when a few BJP MLAs are seeking a change of leadership in the state, Rural Development and Panchayat Raj Minister KS Eshwarappa has thrown his weight behind Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa.

Speaking to the media here on Friday, Eshwarappa -- who also hails from Yediyurappa's home turf of Shivamogga -- said only three to four party leaders, including MLA Basanagouda Patil Yatnal and minister CP Yogeeshwara, were vocal against Yediyurappa and sought his removal.

Eshwarappa said the party will teach them a lesson at an appropriate time. Calling the high command "parents", he said the BJP was a disciplined party.

Calling former chief minister Siddaramaiah a "villain" within the Congress,

Eshwarappa said removing the Opposition leader's picture from the publicity vehicle of KPCC president DK Shivakumar clearly shows there was no unity in the Congress. He said Siddaramaiah and former Deputy Chief Minister G Parameshwara had worked at cross-purposes in the last elections. The Congress has self-declared CM's from five castes, the minister ridiculed.

The Grand Old Party will lose its status of primary opposition party after the next assembly elections, he said, adding that the CM's post is a distant dream for them. The 17 MLAs who quit the Congress-JDS coalition and joined us will never return to their parties, he added.

'Other officials involved in challan tampering'

Inspector General of Registration and Commissioner of Stamps, K P Mohan Raj, on Thursday ordered the dismissal of Prabha, Cheluvaraju, the department's Maddur SDA A C Sunanda and Nelamangala SDA Leelavati. These officials, when they were working in the Mandya sub-registrar office, were allegedly involved in challan tampering, thereby causing revenue loss to the government. A committee headed by retired judge B Rangaswamy investigated the allegations and submitted a report on October 12, 2009, indicting the four.

Cheluvaraju allegedly tampered with challans involving an amount of Rs 1.78 lakh in 13 cases. There were 77 cases against Prabha involving Rs 6.36 lakh, eight cases against Sunanda involving Rs 62,000 and 40 cases against Leelavathi involving Rs 5.29 lakh. Cheluvaraju was not available for clarification over the phone.

Gehlot, an experienced leader: Joshi

On Friday, incumbent governor Vajubhai Vala oversaw the arrangements for the swearing-in of Gehlot.

Union Minister Pralhad Joshi told The New Indian Express, "Thawar Chand Gehlot comes from a very ordinary background and has served at the highest levels. He has served as Union minister, both in the Vajpayee government and in the present government. He was floor leader in the Rajya Sabha and also served as minister in Madhya Pradesh. Yet, there is not a shred of pride in him. He has been extremely efficient as a minister, often with data at his fingertips, even about ordinary details like equipment being given to the physically challenged under his ministry."

BJP National General Secretary C T Ravi said, "He has about 50 years of experience in public life. He has been Union minister, parliamentary board member and has been member of both the both Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha."

As slugfest continues, govt says KRS is safe

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

EVEN as war of words between Mandya MP Sumalatha and former chief minister HD Kumaraswamy continue over the safety of the Krishnaraja Sagar (KRS) reservoir across the Cauvery river, the State Government on Friday clarified that the dam was safe.

The Krishnaraja Sagar across the Cauvery is the lifeline of the region

"The dam is safe and there are no structural defects," K Jaiprakash, Managing Director, Cauvery Neeravari Nigam Limited (CNNL), said, rubbishing reports of cracks in the dam. Sumalatha's remarks about damage caused to the dam because of illegal mining had kicked up a political storm with Kumaraswamy, his party legislators from Mandya and even some BJP leaders, slamming the MP for her comments.

The State Government, too, came under fire for its silence on the issue.

"Members of the Dam Safety Review Panel and department heads conducted post and pre-monsoon inspections and submitted reports to Dam Safety Division of the Karnataka Engineering Research Station. The inspections confirmed that there are no cracks," Jaiprakash added.

Appropriate measures to strengthen the dam are taken based on the Dam Safety Review Panel's report, he said and added that dam restoration work has received an award from the World Bank and Central Water Commission.

"On July 2, a consultant from the Dam Rehabilitation and Improvement Project visited the reservoir to inspect the work on replacing the 136 crest gates and the official too informed that there were no structural defects," he added.

MLC wants technical panel to study dam

Mysuru: Former minister and BJP MLC A H Vishwanath on Friday urged the State Government to constitute a technical expert committee to study the safety of the Krishanaraja Sagar (KRS) reservoir across the Cauvery in Mandya district and clear the confusion among the public. This comes at a time when Mandya MP Sumalatha has alleged that the reservoir---considered the lifeline of the region--- was under threat owing to "illegal mining" activities in its vicinity. On his part, former chief minister HD Kumaraswamy said that he had not permitted any illegal mining during his tenure near the KRS.

Congress worker says police assaulted him over Facebook post, hospitalised

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Udupi

KARKALA Town police, who summoned a Congress party worker on Thursday for questioning, for allegedly posting demeaning content about Indian soldiers on Facebook, are now being blamed for assaulting him.

Radhakrishna Nayak Hirgana, the Congress worker, was admitted to a private hospital in Manipal after the alleged assault. He said that despite appearing before Karkala Town police sub-inspector Madhu B E, and answering him during interrogation, he was brutally assaulted.

Radhakrishna was charged with posting derogatory content against Indian soldiers on his Facebook account about a year ago. However, the accused argued that he had shared his Facebook account password with others and someone else had posted the derogatory content. Based on a complaint, Karkala police summoned him for interrogation.

Congress leaders, including former minister Vinay Kumar Sorake, have warned that they will protest against the police brutality. Bipin Chandrapal Nakre, Udupi district Congress spokesperson, said that some miscreants had posted the derogatory comments by gaining access to Radhakrishna's Facebook account.

"The Congress will protest against this assault," he said, adding that he expects the Udupi SP to address the injustice meted out to Radhakrishna by S-I Madhu. The party will take a decision, based on the SP's step, Nakre said.

Sources said that Radhakrishna was working in Bengaluru, and had recently shifted to his native town. He is a cardiac patient, and the alleged assault on him by police has affected his health.

Denying that Radhakrishna was assaulted, S-I Madhu said that despite summoning him several times for the past one year, he did not cooperate with them. He came to the police station on Thursday, and tried to create a ruckus, Madhu said. "He was not assaulted, and though we asked him to cooperate with the investigation, he did not comply," the S-I said.

Meanwhile, Udupi SP Vishnuvardhan told The New Indian Express that he had ordered Kundapur DySP Srikanth to probe the incident.

Farmers seek relief package

Navnath has been growing pomegranate for the last six years but had suffered losses every season. All his efforts at reaping some profits by growing a quality yield have gone in vain. He had availed at least Rs 4 lakh loans from various financial institutions. The pomegranate crop had almost reached harvest stage when it was hit by a disease.

Several farmers in drought-prone North Karnataka, particularly Vijayapura and Athani, are into horticulture farming and grow grapes, pomegranate and lemon in abundance every year. A large chunk of horticulture produce is transported to many areas in and outside the country from this region every year.

To overcome the losses, pomegranate growers in the region have appealed to the government to announce a relief package.

SagarMala will snatch away our livelihood, say fishermen

Traditional fishermen protest against the Union Government's SagarMala project in Mangaluru on Friday

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mangaluru

TRADITIONAL fishermen held a protest on their boats on the banks of the Phalguni on Friday demanding the scrapping of the SagarMala project of the Union Government under which it has proposed a coastal berth at Bengre. They alleged that the project will affect the livelihood of traditional fishermen.

Phalguni Traditional Fishermen Association honorary president Muneer Katipalla, addressing the fishermen, said that the project, if implemented, will affect over 600 fishermen who are already under distress due to Covid-19. "The SagarMala project has destroyed the lives of the fishermen. The project, being implemented from Karwar to Mangaluru, is destroying the livelihoods of fishermen. The project will snatch the fishing sector from the fishermen, who are dependent on it, and hand it over to the corporates," he alleged. He said that in Bengre, over 1,000 fishermen in over 500 boats indulge in traditional fishing. "The project has damaged the river banks where traditional fishermen anchor their boats... it will pose a danger to the marine system. The authorities have not given any information about the project to the locals and simply went ahead with the project. The fishermen had urged the government to address their issues when the project started. But they have kept the fishermen in the dark and carried out the work using police force," he added. Earlier, hundreds of traditional fishermen and their families from Bengre and Tannirbavi gathered in their boats and shouted slogans against the project holding placards.

Under this project, 70 cargo vessels, with a capacity of 5,000 tonnes, can be berthed taking away the anchoring facility for the traditional fishermen. It will also have a commercial wharf, a double lane approach road, passenger lounge, and a godown.

Twitter India can't play hide and seek: UP cops

'K'taka HC does not have territorial jurisdiction in the case'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court will pass its order on July 13 on the petition filed by Twitter India Managing Director Manish Maheshwari seeking to quash the June 21 notice issued by the Uttar Pradesh police under Section 14-A of the CrPC in connection with a video uploaded allegedly to promote communal disharmony. Justice G Narendar said that he will dictate the order on Tuesday, after the arguments of the petitioner and the UP police concluded on Friday.

Advocate P Prasanna Kumar, representing the UP police, argued that the petitioner was required to appear before the police for questioning and not before this court, which is not the territorial jurisdiction, as he claims to be the "country leader at Twitter" on various social platforms, including LinkedIn.

Kumar contended that the notice was issued to the petitioner in his capacity as MD of Twitter India and not as an individual. "The petitioner can't play hide and seek when he has declared himself 'country leader at Twitter' and his registered office is in Mumbai. He has to appear before the police who have ample powers to question any person under Section 160 of the CrPC. Moreover, he has to approach the High Court in UP and not in Karnataka, which is not the territorial jurisdiction where the crime was registered," he argued.

Before this, senior advocate C V Nagesh, representing the petitioner, argued that the notice issued to the petitioner lacks "sanction of law" and indicates that it is "an act of intimidation". Vindictive action has been taken against the petitioner and his fundamental rights has been violated, he argued.

He said that the petitioner was ready to appear before the police virtually. "Nothing prevented the police from questioning him virtually, but they did not do so even 10 days after this court passed the order to question him virtually, while restraining them from taking any coercive action. Is it their ego? Why do they not want to question him through video conference?" Nagesh said while reiterating that this court has jurisdiction to entertain the petition.

HC directs State, BBMP to look into immunisation for kids of labourers

Bengaluru: The Karnataka High Court on Friday directed the State government and the BBMP to look into the issue of regular immunisation for children of migrant and construction workers. A special division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Aravind Kumar passed the order after going through the report of the Karnataka State Legal Services Authority (KSLSA), which indicates that such children are more vulnerable to health issues during the pandemic because they are deprived of vaccines like BCG.

SP Rahul Kumar Shahapurwad inspects the spot outside a temple where the woman's body was found

Police intensify probe into suspected case of human sacrifice

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Tumakuru

SEEING the gravity of the suspicious death of an unidentified woman suspected to be a case of human sacrifice, SP Rahul Kumar Shahapurwad himself led a team of officials at Jakkenahalli near here and reportedly got some leads.

The decomposed corpse of the woman aged about 40 years was found outside the Anjaneya Temple atop the hill last week and the post-mortem is yet to be done as the police have been trying to identify the body.

Based on the missing complaints across the district and the neighbouring Chikballapur district, the police have been scouting for the identity and a case of a woman missing from Gauribidanuru has been verified, sources informed TNIE. Once the identity is traced, the investigation will take a turn to ascertain as to whether it was a murder or human sacrifice, they added.

As per circumstantial evidence, the culprits -- treasure hunters -- had dug the soil and performed some rituals.

Overstaying foreigners: Cops crack whip on house owners

Bengaluru: The East Division police have issued notice to 15 landlords for allegedly renting out their properties to foreign nationals who were staying illegally. The Govindapura police had arrested two Nigerians, including a woman, last week and had seized cocaine from them. It was found that the duo had no valid visa to stay in India, but had taken a house in Ramamurthy Nagar for rent. "It was found that the house owner had given for rent without any rental agreement," an official said. Following this, the East Division police issued notice to 15 landlords who had rented out their properties to foreigners who were arrested for drug peddling. Kerala on alert after 13 more cases of Zika

Centre dispatches team to monitor situation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ T'Puram

THE state health department has prepared an action plan to deal with the Zika virus outbreak as 13 more people -- all nursing staff of a private hospital -- were confirmed with the viral infection in Thiruvananthapuram on Friday. In the first case, a pregnant woman from Parassala was diagnosed with the disease on Thursday.

With this, the total number of confirmed cases has become 14. According to health officials, the condition of all patients are normal.

Meanwhile, the Union Health Ministry has dispatched a six-member team to the state to monitor the situation and support the government. The team consists of public health and vector-borne disease experts and clinicians from All India Institute of Medical Sciences, New Delhi.

In view of the viral infection, the state health department has drawn up an action plan against the mosquito-borne disease with special focus on pregnant women. The disease may have severe severe impact on women who have been pregnant for up to four months.

ACTION PLAN

- Monitoring of women who have been pregnant for up to five months if they report symptoms of fever
- All hospitals told to monitor cases of fever, body pain, rashes and headache
- Stepping up training and awareness programmes against spread of Zika virus
- Mosquito control measures in coordination with various departments
- Lab facilities to detect the virus be set up at medical colleges and public health laboratories

Health Minister Veena George has directed the district medical officers to confirm that women below five months of pregnancy, who report with fever, are not Zika positive. The minister said the facilities for detecting the virus will be set up at medical college hospitals and public health laboratories. Private hospitals will be made part of Zika control measures.

Kochi firm to invest ₹1,000 cr in TS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Hyderabad/Kochi

TELANGANA scored over Kerala in attracting the investment in textile sector. Kochi-based Kitex Garments Limited has decided to invest Rs 1,000 crore in Kakatiya Mega Textile Park, Warangal.

"We will invest Rs 1,000 crore in the first phase. We will invest more in Telangana in the coming days," Kitex managing director Sabu Jocob announced here on Friday after meeting Industries Minister KT Rama Rao. The first phase investment by Kitex will provide jobs to 4,000.

The State government sent a special flight for the Kitex group and arranged .

Telangana IT and Industries Minister KT Rama Rao explained the TS-iPASS, single window system and other investor-friendly policies of the state government.

The Telangana officials informed the Kitex delegation that as per the volume of investment they proposed, the Kitex would get mega-project status and it would also get tailor-made incentives.

Kitex delegation informed Rama Rao that as part of the expansion of the company, they were interested to invest outside Kerala and preferred Telangana. The delegation also heaped praises over the interest shown by the Telangana.

"The Telangana government took quick decisions on our investment proposals. We can rarely see such type of swift decisions by the State governments," the Kitex delegation felt.

The delegation also said that they were impressed by TS' industrial policy.

Control crowdfunding: Kerala HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kochi

EXPRESSING concern over unrestricted crowdfunding by many people for the treatment of children suffering from rare diseases, the High Court on Friday said the state should have some control over the practice.

"Every Tom, Dick and Harry cannot be permitted to raise funds," it said. "There are different people, including YouTubers, raising funds. They are collecting money for treatment. Where is the money going? Where is it coming from? Who collected it? What is the remaining balance? Does the state have any control or monitoring over this collection of money," Justice P B Suresh Kumar asked while hearing a petition by an autorickshaw driver seeking government aid for importing a drug costing ₹18 crore to treat his six-month-old child who is suffering from a rare genetic disease, spinal muscular atrophy.

"When the state government started collecting money to provide free vaccines, it raised only ₹68 lakh. However, ₹18 crore was raised within seven days by some people for the drug. What is the magic behind it," the court wondered. It directed the government to inform it about the provisions to control crowdfunding in the state.

The court made it clear that it did not want to interdict crowdfunding, but only caution the government to have some control over it.

"YouTubers can promote the campaign to raise funds. Let the money come to the government platform. Why should they collect money via their bank accounts? Some YouTubers started arguments in public about spending the balance amount," said the court.

"People cannot simply be permitted to collect money. There should be some sort of control by the government. People should not be taken for a ride. If any mismanagement or allegations (regarding the funds) come to light, people will not provide any help in future. The transactions, if left unsupervised, can destabilise the economy," the court observed orally.

The government pleader submitted that some media firms, YouTubers and social media activists had started crowdfunding. Hence, the state police chief's intervention would also be required to find out the source of the funds being collected by different persons and to know the operators of the accounts.

Stalin calls for all-party meet to discuss Mekedatu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

CHIEF Minister MK Stalin on Friday called for a meeting of representatives of all legislature parties in the State on July 12 to discuss the Mekedatu issue. The meeting is aimed at showing that all sections in Tamil Nadu stand united on safeguarding the interests of farmers, an official release said.

It added that the Tamil Nadu government has been taking legal steps to prevent the Karnataka government from constructing a dam across the Cauvery. Earlier, Stalin met Prime Minister Narendra Modi and explained the State government's stand on the Mekedatu issue and asserted that the interests of the Tamil Nadu farmers should be protected.

Water Resources Minister Durai Murugan has also called on the Union Jal Sakthi Minister and urged him to take appropriate action in this matter. Responding to Karnataka Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa's letter on the Mekedatu issue a few days ago, Stalin said that Tamil Nadu would never allow the construction of a dam across the Cauvery at Mekedatu. He also pointed out that construction of a dam across the river would affect the interests of farmers.

Railway cops rescue 8 children coming into city for work, book three

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

EIGHT boys, sent from Bihar to Bengaluru to allegedly work as labourers, were rescued by the Government Railway Police (GRP) during an undercover operation on board the Danapur Express, from Bangarpet to Krantivira Sangolli Rayanna (Bengaluru City) railway stations.

An FIR was registered on Friday evening at KSR railway station against three individuals for trafficking, and the rescued children were handed over to the Child Welfare Committee.

The FIR, booked at the GRP Station, names Krishna Sahani and Mohan Sahaniya, both from Motihari, Bihar, and Jithendra, employed at a factory in Hassan. They were booked under Sections 363 and 370 IPC.

The lid was blown off the racket following a tip-off from Bihar unit members of Bachpan Bachao Andolan, a nationwide movement started by Nobel laureate Kailash Satyarthi for the rights of children, to their colleagues here, about the train arriving in Bengaluru on July 6. They alerted ChildLine and the GRP.

A covert operation was planned, involving the Andolan and cops. "We were allowed on board the train at Bangarpet around 2.25 pm Tuesday, with a 14-member strong GRP team, a majority of them women constables in civilian clothes, who went around all bogies, interacting with the passengers. Eight children were found accompanied by adults who were not immediate family members. The children gave us the contact numbers of their fathers, who claimed the children were sent to Bengaluru for sightseeing," D G Sumathi of the Andolan's Bengaluru branch told TNIE.

Two children were accompanied by their fathers, and one youngster had proof to show he was above 18, so we couldn't do anything, she added.

Ballari's child helpline receives 1,000 calls over three months

Ballari: The child helpline number in Ballari received nearly a 1,000 calls over the last three months. Most of the cases were reported from both Ballari and Vijayanagara districts, of which majority of them have been attended and solved. Major cases included sexual harassment, kidnapping, child marriage, withdrawal from schools and child labour. The officials pointed out that during the lockdown, crime against children was at its peak in many parts of the state. Once the helpline receives the calls, squads are put into action to resolve the crisis. Sayyed Chand Pasha, Ballari's Children Protection Officer, pointed out that the pandemic lead to many people taking advantage of helpless children.

ADDRESS CAIRN ENERGY TAX DISPUTE IMMEDIATELY

While fighting one war, one shouldn't fan another. But it appears that the ongoing India-Cairn tax dispute is inching towards that direction. The UK's Cairn Energy PLC, which won the arbitration award last December, is reportedly seizing our global assets, including government buildings. The international arbitration tribunal had held India's retrospective levy as unfair and asked the government to return $1.7 billion to Cairn. What's troubling is, with India refusing to pay, Cairn has registered cases across multiple jurisdictions and if it succeeds, we will join countries like Pakistan and Venezuela that have had assets seized for dishonouring international rulings.

The government appointed a judge on the three-member tribunal that unanimously overturned the levy and asked India to return the value of Cairn's sold shares, dividend seized and tax refund withheld. But the government maintains that the tribunal 'improperly exercised jurisdiction over a national tax dispute that the Republic of India never offered and/or agreed to arbitrate'. It even termed the tribunal's ruling as 'highly flawed' and moved The Hague Court of Appeals, which is expected to hear the case in September. In 2015, Cairn sought relief under the UK-India bilateral investment treaty and the tribunal held India's actions as violative of the 'fair and equitable treatment' guaranteed to foreign investors. India dismisses the view and instead is arguing that the tribunal's ruling ratifies Cairn's scheme of achieving double non-taxation designed to avoid global taxes. This, it insists, is 'a significant public policy concern for governments worldwide'.

As we await a closure, chances are others who have won arbitration awards, including Vodafone UK and Devas Multimedia, may feel emboldened to seize India's assets. To avoid this, unsolicited advice is pouring in from several quarters. One such option is to offer Barmer oil fields in Rajasthan to Cairn, incidentally discovered by the company itself. Such a move could allow the government to honour its liability without adding fiscal pressure. Any reputational losses for dishonouring international rulings is needless and India must avoid global humiliation at all costs.

XI JINPING THOUGHT SPELLS INSTABILITY

As the Chinese Communist Party (CCP) turned 100, its supreme leader and China's President-for-life Xi Jinping claimed his country had never bullied or subjugated any other nation nor would it ever do so. But the message that rang across the world was exactly the opposite. The reason is simple. Actions speak louder than words.

The CCP has much to be proud of and as much to be ashamed of. Millions of Chinese perished in the Cultural Revolution and the Great Leap Forward and an unknown number bore the brunt of its fury in the Tiananmen Square protests. Not to forget the millions of Uyghurs currently lodged in detention camps in Xinjiang. On the other hand, the CCP uplifted millions of Chinese from poverty with its Open Doors Policy or rather, the unnatural marriage of socialism with market economics —Socialism with Chinese characteristics. The father of this peculiar formulation, Deng Xiaoping, had cautioned his comrades to bide their time until the country became rich before flexing muscles on the international stage. Three decades on, Xi surely believes the time has come. China has been clocking an 9.8% growth rate on an average since 1979 and was the only country to register growth last year despite Covid. Evidently the most powerful Chinese leader since Mao, Xi has arrogated to himself immense power by ensuring that the two-term limit on presidency is removed, his own Xi Jinping Thought incorporated in the Constitution and the party purged of his opponents.

His reign since 2012 has seen China becoming more assertive, be it in the South China Sea or the borders with India, arm-twisting countries economically, cracking down on Hong Kong, upping the ante on Taiwan and refusing to be transparent about Covid's origins. Xi's Belt and Road Initiative, promotion of authoritarian capitalism and export of digital technology appear aimed at reshaping the world with China at the centrestage. Drum-beating nationalism at home and itching for confrontations abroad, whether Xi's tenure spells instability in the CCP remains to be seen. He is definitely in the process of achieving that abroad.

Except for a stray Jyotiraditya Scindia or Ashwini Vaishnaw, Modi's backroom boys have delved deep into India and plucked the hitherto unrepresented

A LUTYENS MADE OF LITTLE INDIA

SANTWANA BHATTACHARYA

Resident Editor, Karnataka, The New Indian Express

SOUMYADIP SINHA

The word revolution is often thrown around casually. Let's extend that lexical liberty. First, take the 'forcible' and 'overthrow' part out from the dictionary meaning. Now stretch what remains so that it can cover an existing regime's manoeuvres to extend its durability and appeal. Implausible though it may sound, what happened on June 7 in the Durbar Hall of Rashtrapati Bhawan was that sort of revolution.

Of course it was top down—grand gestures to signal the final dismantling of the old order. Narendra Modi likes to do things with a big bang. The scale is an important element in his thinking. Shake up the system—or replace it. Make everyone feel the impact. There are Cabinet expansions and Cabinet expansions—this one was a Sardar Patel statue among them, dwarfing all else. No other Indian PM has attempted something like this.

Yes, the size was for effect—43 taking oath, 36 of them newbies. What makes it a completely new order of things is the inductees. Except for a stray Jyotiraditya Scindia or Ashwini Vaishnaw, a Sarbananda Sonowal or Narayan Rane, Modi's backroom boys have delved deep into India and plucked the hitherto unrepresented, and ushered them into the rarefied environs of Delhi Durbar, replacing the elite.

The odd Wharton graduate or Gwalior Maharaja aside, those who have come into the echelons of power are mostly those who would otherwise be lining up outside the residences of ministers when they come calling to their native land. The three key elements in the method here may sound like old hat—representation, consolidation and thanksgiving, all interconnected. What makes it stand out is the way it was executed, as if crafting a consummate revenge on the old order, the ultimate ouster of the Khan Market gang from the Durbar. The new order mocking the ancien regime.

Rajnath Singh remains as the only remnant of the past. Maybe a concession made keeping in mind the UP elections. Otherwise, from the Northeast to Tamil Nadu, and whatever is in between, it's all about representation, and consolidation of votes with power-sharing, at least on the face of it.

Which votes? Of those who went with Modi in 2014 and 2019, hitching their wagon to the lodestar. As voters or leaders. Ministerial representation is, thus, a form of thanksgiving—a gesture intended at deepening symbiosis. Take Bengal. The Matuas, the Rajbanshis, the tea garden tribes and, geographically, Bankura/Jangalmahal have gone with the BJP since 2014. So in comes Matua leader Shantanu Thakur from south Bengal; Nitish Pramanik Rajbanshi from Coochbehar; John Barla, a tribal from Alipurduar; and Bankura MP Subhas Sarkar, a doctor vocal about Jangalmahal. Forget about the rest of India, very few in Bengal, beyond their community and influence groups, would have known about them!

Controversies around some of them, Pramanik and Barla for instance, are of little consequence. This is not about governance or competence, this is about a place in the power structure. From Pranab Mukherjee to John Barla, it's nothing short of a real tectonic shift in the very centrestage of politics.

In Karnataka, the same pattern emerges. Shobha Karandlaje is not an unknown quantity in state politics. Vocal, Vokkaliga, virulently Hindu. Her elevation has much to do with securing the coastal belt and thwarting a possible Vokkaliga consolidation behind the Congress or JD(S) in 2023 and 2024, state and parliamentary elections. A quieter, old guard type Vokkaliga like Sadanand Gowda would not have sufficed.

> What makes the Cabinet expansion stand out is the way it was executed, as if crafting a consummate revenge on the old order, the ultimate ouster of the Khan Market gang from the Durbar

From the other end comes Abbaiah Narayanawamy, a Madiga SC, unblemished, steadfastly RSS. His community currently goes unrepresented in the Congress organisation. Then, Bhagwanth Khuba, a Lingayat, a community that's already a strong BJP votary, gets picked from the backward Kalyana Karnataka region.

B L Santhosh, RSS-BJP linkman, obviously had much to do with preparing the list of MoSes with BJP chief J P Nadda—the Udupi man has a keen eye for spotting grassroots RSS karyakartas with potential. The attempt here is to ensure B S Yediyurappa doesn't remain the BJP's only face in Karnataka. (The fourth inducted, also an MoS, Rajeev Chandrashekhar, brings in the urbane sheen, if not anything in terms of votes.)

Yogi Adityanath has been similarly contained by bolstering small socio-political alliances with non-Yadav OBCs, Kurmis in particular, and non-Jatav Dalits—call it a buffer around Yogi's Thakur Raj, also against a probable erosion of support in the Jat farmer belt. With Anupriya Patel of Apna Dal (Sonelal) and six others, Modi's Council of Ministers is filled with MPs from the other side of UP: Poorvanchal has five, Awadh four. Western UP only three, Bundelkhand two and Rohilkhand one.

With big names like Harsh Vardhan, Ravi Shankar Prasad and Prakash Javadekar out, no one thought of Santosh Gangwar. The Kurmi leader, who could neither deliver on the new labour laws that industry is hankering for nor remain quiet when Yogi mismanaged the second wave, is out. Instead, from the same community, Pankaj Choudhury is in. All young and energetic. Make no mistake. Whether Tamil Nadu or Gujarat, the driving logic was caste. Or some other calculation—like G Kishan Reddy, who many see as a probable Telangana CM candidate for BJP.

As for the rest—bogey words like governance, economy, inflation, unemployment and Covid—expect some 'feelgood'. With Modi's bigbang approach, people miss his small reforms. Now Amit Shah, heading the newly minted Cooperation Ministry, will work on small loans for farmers and MSMEs. Babu-turned-minister Vaishnaw will technocratise Railways. And the Maharaja of Gwalior will help unseat the Maharaja of Air India!

TACKLING DELAYED PAYMENTS TO MSMEs

NITISHA MANN

Indian Economic Service officer & Deputy Director, MSME-DI, Cuttack

With more than 30% contribution to the total Gross Value Added, one-third stake in the country's total manufacturing Gross Value of Output and a workforce of more than 11 crore people, nothing about the Micro, Small and Medium sector in India's economy seems micro, small or medium.

The 73rd round of NSSO found 633.88 lakh unincorporated non-agriculture MSMEs in India engaged in different economic activities. However, total MSME registrations under the government-notified Udyog Aadhaar Memorandum (UAM) was only 1.02 crore. The UAM was replaced on 1 July 2020 by Udyam Registration, which is more simplified and free of cost. Till 31 March 2021, only 26.42 lakh MSMEs had registered on the Udyam registration portal. Hence, the majority of MSMEs still remain outside the purview of the organised sector and the ambit of the myriad Central and state government schemes meant for supporting them.

One of the most severe problems faced by MSEs (Micro & Small Enterprises) is that of delayed payments for goods supplied and services rendered. This often makes them debt-ridden, eventually pushing them to the brink of insolvency. To deal with this, the Micro, Small and Medium Enterprise Development (MSMED) Act, 2006, contains provisions for establishment of Micro and Small Enterprise Facilitation Council (MSEFC) for settlement of such disputes at the state level. The Ministry of Micro, Small & Medium Enterprises also launched a Delayed Payment Portal—MSME Samadhaan—for micro and small entrepreneurs to directly register their cases relating to delayed payments. After 15 days of registering their cases on the portal and subject to scrutiny by MSEFC, the case is transferred to the Council.

The TReDS is an e-platform for facilitating the financing of trade receivables of the MSMEs due from corporates and government departments/PSUs through financiers like banks or other financial institutions. However, multi-party interactions and stages make it complicated for entrepreneurs. Increasing the number of stakeholders and reducing the discount charges on transactions would increase the efficacy of TReDS, further incentivising more MSMEs to utilise this platform.

Notwithstanding the legal remedies available, this malaise continues to plague the growth of the MSME sector. Payments to MSEs remain deferred, either due to delay in proceedings (as on June 21, 30,483 applications of the total 79,747 applications filed in MSEFC are yet to be viewed by the Council), non-compliance with the orders or lack of financial resources with the buyer unit itself. Whichever the case, the sufferer is the MSE unit. Working capital is the lifeblood for MSMEs and delayed payments are sucking it dry for them. Micro and small enterprises remain more vulnerable to liquidity issues and the post-Covid demand crash has only added fuel to the fire.

To ensure that the continuum of working capital for micro and small units is uninterrupted, a permanent MSE fund may be created. The corpus of this fund may be utilised to pay the entrepreneurs of MSE units after passing of order by MSEFC. The unit originally liable to pay shall then deposit the entire due amount within a stipulated time into the fund. The interest amount may be directly paid to the supplier unit. Failure to deposit the amount in time would invite stringent legal action.

> The malaise of delayed payments for goods supplied and services rendered continues to plague the growth of the MSME sector. Given the huge financial crunch, it'll be a Herculean task for the government to dive into its coffers for more resources. A simple reallocation of resources may come to the rescue

Such a fund may be created at the state level by the Centre in partnership with state governments. Since maintaining any fund requires expertise and diligence, a financial institution may be roped in for this purpose. The fund may be maintained by any such institution selected through a formal screening process.

As on 1 June 2021, out of 32,420 cases actually filed with MSEFC involving an amount of ₹11,816 crore, only 10,739 cases with an amount totalling ₹2,466 crore have been disposed of. What a shot in the arm it would be for the cash-starved MSME sector if there would be a quick disposal and disbursal of the amount in these pending cases from the suggested fund. There is also a simultaneous need for more MSEFCs at the state level for this to materialise.

Given the huge financial crunch, it'll be a Herculean task for the government to dive into its coffers for more resources. However, a simple reallocation of resources may come to the rescue. Under the Atmanirbhar Bharat package, Emergency Credit Line Guarantee Scheme (ECLGS) was announced to help mitigate some of the distress caused to the MSME sector due to sudden demand fall. The main objective of ECLGS was to provide collateral-free additional funding of up to ₹3 lakh crore to MSME borrowers. The amount of guaranteed emergency credit line funding to eligible MSME borrowers was to be 20% of their entire outstanding credit up to ₹25 crore as on 29 February 2020.

The scheme was further extended to include more sectors and firms with larger credit exposure through subsequent revisions in the form of ECLGS 2.0, 3.0 and most recently 4.0. The last date for applications has also been commensurately revised till 30 September 2021. Recently, the funding under ECLGS has been raised to ₹4.5 lakh crore. However, what needs to be noted is that the Indian economy has been grappling with a slowdown since 2018. Many businesses were, therefore, already struggling to stay afloat and had turned SMA2 or NPA by February 2021, which rendered them ineligible for ECLGS. Secondly, a significant portion of MSMEs are based out of rural areas with low access to formal credit and hence, function through informal credit channels or rely on their own working capital. The ECLGS excludes such MSMEs. This may be why the designated amount under the scheme couldn't be disbursed and its outreach and validity had to be expanded.

Some funding assistance under ECLGS can be used at first for settling the claims under MSEFC, thus providing the initial support for such a fund. Recurrent financing won't be needed since all units liable to pay would be required to pay back. Establishing such a fund will reinforce trust in MSEFC and encourage more entrepreneurs to go for registration, thereby, increasing formalisation and addressing the chronic issue of deferred payments through a much-yearned-for elixir for the MSME sector of our economy.

Committed to his work

It is great to see the Secunderabad MP G Kishan Reddy get elevated as Cabinet minister in the Narendra Modi government and take charge of two ministries. Reddy showed simplicity, discipline and commitment towards his work, which was visible even during the pandemic, and bagged the Cabinet rank. One hopes he achieves more laurels in his new task in the Central government.

Inspiration to the youth

The profile of the newly inducted Cabinet minister Ashwini Vaishnaw is quite inspiring. He has studied engineering and management in top universities. He also had a successful stint both in the civil services and the corporate world. His journey will serve as an inspiration to youngsters all over the nation and help remove a little of the negative images that people have of politicians.

Govt getting overconfident

This is with reference to Course correction needed in Kerala's Covid strategy (Jul 9). Kerala is like a sprinter who had a good start but lost momentum mid-track. After getting pats on the back from national and international fora for its effective pandemic management, the government and the general public seemed to get overconfident, which had a negative impact.

LDF relaxing too much?

The editorial's comments about Kerala's poor Covid management was appropriate. Having won the state elections, the LDF doesn't seem too worried. Even the new health minister seems to be blindly defending the government's data on deaths instead of taking the complaints of undercounting seriously. The earlier method of tracing contacts and isolating appears to be long abandoned.

Big shoes to fill

With Kerala reporting more cases of the Zika virus even as the pandemic situation is not under control, one wonders whether the new inexperienced health minister Veena George was handed a responsibility too heavy for her young shoulders. Though it is unfair to compare them, people considered former health minister K K Shailaja the Rock of Gibraltar during the first wave. George has very big shoes to fill and will probably learn with time, but more maturity is expected of her while speaking at the Assembly or to the press.

The return of Rafa

Spanish tennis player Rafael Nadal's decision to return to competition by making his reappearance in the Citi Open at Washington is wonderful news and will cheer up his fans. A 20-time Grand Slam winner, Nadal hasn't played since his French Open semifinal loss to Serbian Novak Djokovic last month as he skipped Wimbledon to allow his body to rest.

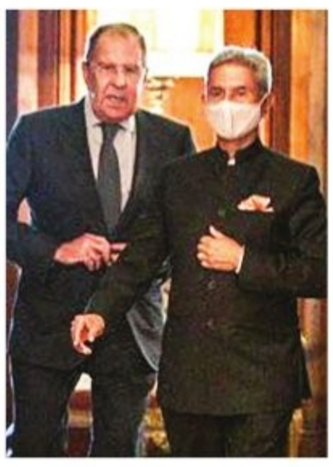
Afghanistan situation highlight of Jaishankar's talk with Russian EAM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi



S Jaishankar & his Russian counterpart Sergey Lavrov in Moscow | PTI

EXTERNAL Affairs Minister S Jaishankar on Friday said India is concerned about the deteriorating security situation in Afghanistan and stressed that the legitimacy of those governing the war-torn country must not be ignored.

"Of course we are concerned at the direction of events in Afghanistan. The point right now we stress is that we must see a reduction in violence. Violence cannot be the solution for the situation in Afghanistan. At the end of the day, who governs Afghanistan has a legitimacy aspect. I think that is something which cannot and should not be ignored," Jaishankar said during a joint press conference with his Russian counterpart Sergey Lavrov in Moscow.

The minister's remarks come amid the Taliban announcing that it now controls 85% of Afghan territory and the Pentagon saying that withdrawal of troops from the country is over 90% complete. Following withdrawal of troops, the Taliban has made rapid strides and pushed the country on the brink of a civil war. Under a deal with Taliban, the US and its allies agreed to withdraw troops in return for a commitment that the militants would prevent extremists from operating in areas they control.

Jaishankar said conferences and discussions have been held internationally on how to stabilise Afghanistan for over 30 years now. "The reason for this is that it (security in Afghanistan) has proven implications for regional security and regional stability," he said and added that India and Russia have to work together to ensure progress in economic and social realms in Afghanistan.

India, a major stakeholder in the peace and stability of Afghanistan, has been supporting intra-Afghan dialogue and has emphasised that the peace process should be Afghan-led, Afghan-owned and Afghan-controlled.

New Delhi has development partnership of around $3 billion, including more than 550 Community Development Projects covering all 34 provinces, aimed at making Afghanistan a self-sustaining nation.

On his discussions with Lavrov, Jaishankar said India has always seen its relationship with Russia as a contribution to global peace, security and stability.

FIRST GEORGIA TRIP BY INDIAN EAM

New Delhi: External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar is on a two-day visit to Georgia, where he will hold talks with his counterpart David Zalkaliani. He reached Georgia on Friday. The visit is the first by an Indian external affairs minister since Georgia gained independence from the Soviet Union in 1991. It is also seen as a tit-for-tat gesture to Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov's visit to Islamabad from New Delhi in April. Jaishankar was on a two-day to visit to Russia where he met among others Lavrov and Russian deputy PM Yuri Borisov. Tensions are high between Russia and Georgia since the war in 2008, following which two regions of Georgia declared independence with Russia's support. New Delhi does not recognise either region as separate countries.

Pay fine & get green nod despite violations

Union environment ministry's decision to impose penalties and clear projects draws criticism from experts

RICHA SHARMA @ New Delhi

IN a kind of 'paid amnesty scheme' for violators of environmental laws, the Union Environment Ministry has come up with a set of standard operating procedures (SoPs), laying down penalty provisions for violations and giving post facto approvals.

Environmentalists reckoned that with these directions, the ministry has normalised environmental violations and institutionalised the regularisation of violations.

The SoPs for identification and handling of violation cases under Environment Impact Assessment Notification, 2006, lays down penalty provisions under two sections — new projects and expansion projects — where work started or expanded without obtaining mandatory prior approval from the ministry.

The direction issued on July 7, a copy of which is with this newspaper, shows that for projects where operations has not commenced, project proponents will be charged 1 per cent of total cost of the project incurred up to the date of filing of application along with EIA report and 1 per cent of total project cost, plus 0.25 per cent of total turnover during the period of violation.

New Environment Minister Bhupender Yadav with Prime Minister Narendra Modi

Similar fines have been imposed for expansion of projects where work started without prior approval.

Kanchi Kohli, Senior Researcher, CPR-Namati Environment Justice Program, said this was strongly opposed when the draft EIA 2020 was introduced for public comments, when the country was dealing with the Covid-19 pandemic, finalisation of which is still pending.

"Such a grant of post facto approvals has also been determined illegal by judgments of the Supreme Court. However, the office memorandum has signaled that the non-adherence with environmental clearances does not need to be a deterrence so long as fines can be paid and post facto approvals can be negotiated," she said.

According to Sujit Kumar Bajpayee, Joint Secretary, (Impact Assessment), in the ministry, the directions have been issued to all states to immediately identify such violators and bring them into a regulatory regime so as to prevent and control environment damage caused by violations.

EACs directed not to seek unnecessary details

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

WHILE there have been instances of project proponents seeking environment clearance on fictitious data, the Union Environment Ministry has now directed Expert Appraisal Committees (EAC) to not seek unnecessary details related to environmental impact of the project to prevent delay in accordance with approval.

The ministry has issued an order, saying during the review meetings for streamlining the Environment Clearance (EC) process, it has come to notice that many EACs are prescribing EC conditions, which are not measurable or monitorable. "In this regard, the member secretaries of the EACs are requested to avoid prescribing ambiguous EC conditions and to ensure that all the conditions that are prescribed are specific to the project and are measurable and can be monitored," it said.

The ministry had in March and May this year issued two orders for streamlining the essential details sought (EDS), additional details sought (ADS) and prescription of specific environmental clearances conditions by EACs.

"During review of the pendency at division level, it has come to notice that some sectors are seeking unnecessary and unreasonable details in the form of EDS during Terms of Reference/Environment Clearance which are neither required or mandated as per existing rule position/guidelines/OMs, resulting into undue delay in EC process," said the ministry's later order.

It further said that this has been viewed very seriously and all member secretaries are hereby directed to maintain consistency in examination of the proposal and raising EDS. "No such EDS shall be raised which is neither relevant for the purpose of appraisal of the project nor required as per TOR/existing rule position."

WhatsApp puts privacy policy on hold

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

AMIDST the standoff with the Centre over its privacy policy, WhatsApp on Friday told the Delhi High Court that it has decided to temporarily put its privacy policy on hold, till the Data Protection Bill comes into force.

WhatsApp's new privacy policy allows the instant messaging app to use some of the business conversations hosted with Facebook for advertising.

A bench of Chief Justice D N Patel and Justice Jyoti Singh was hearing the appeals of Facebook and WhatsApp against the single-judge order refusing to stop the regulator Competition Commission of India's (CCI) order directing a probe into WhatsApp's new policy. On behalf of WhatsApp, advocate Harish Salve said: "Government has asked to shut down the policy. We have said we will not enforce it till Data Protection Bill comes out. That is open-ended because we don't know when the Bill will come out. We said we will not do this for a while. Suppose the Bill allows me to do it, we will have completely different ramifications. We voluntarily agreed to put it on hold. We will not compel people to accept."

WhatsApp, which has 53 crore users in India, faced severe backlash over user concerns that data was being shared with parent company Facebook. Following the introduction of the new privacy policy, several users moved to apps like Signal and Telegram. Earlier, WhatsApp had made it compulsory to accept the policy in order to continue using the app. Backtracking on the condition, the company has said it will not limit the functionality of the messaging app for users not agreeing to its new privacy policy, but will continue to send reminders about the update.

Terming WhatsApp's bombarding of notifications on customers as an anti-user practice for obtaining trick consent, the government had urged the court to direct the messaging platform to desist from pushing notifications to users on the new policy.

IT rule can have chilling effect on content: NBA

The News Broadcasters Association (NBA) said in a statement on Friday that no coercive action can be taken against its members for not implementing/complying with "Part III Code of Ethics And Procedure and Safeguards In Relation to Digital Media of the IT Rules 2021". NBA said the rules create an oversight mechanism giving the executive 'unfettered, unbridled and excessive powers to regulate content of digital news media'. "The grievance redressal mechanism created, and the powers delegated have a 'chilling effect' on the content of the media," it said. This came after Kerala HC said the Centre cannot take coercive action.

More than half of Covid-19 cases from Maharashtra and Kerala

Vaccination in progress at a camp in Manipur's Imphal East district on Friday | PTI

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Centre on Friday expressed concern at the marginal rise in Covid-19 cases in Maharashtra and Kerala over the last few days, adding that around 53 per cent of the total coronavirus cases being reported in India at present are from these two states alone.

In a press briefing on Covid-19 status in the country, authorities on Friday said that while Kerala accounted for about 32 per cent of the total Covid-19 cases logged by the country last week, Maharashtra's share, at 21 per cent, was the second-highest. A few days over the last week, this has also led to a marginal growth in active Covid-19 cases in India, although a clear pattern has not been set yet.

This, said Lav Agarwal, joint secretary in the Union Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, is a "matter of concern."

The data presented by the officials in the briefing showed that Maharashtra reported over 8,700 new cases on July 3, which declined steadily to over 6,700 on July 6. However, since then, the number of daily cases have again been higher than those on July 6. On the other hand, Kerala saw more than 12,800 infections on July 2, which fell to nearly 8,300 on July 6. However, over the last few days, the number of new cases have risen again.

"We are coordinating with the two state governments. Our effort is to contain the spread of the infection through intensive containment measures," said Agarwal.

The figures also showed that Kerala recorded 13,772 Covid-19 cases, while the corresponding number for Maharashtra was 9,114, and put together, the two states contributed 22,886 or 52.74 per cent of the 43,393 cases reported from across the country in the last 24 hours.

Over the last couple of weeks, authorities in different departments of the Central government have also been stressing that the second wave in India is still not over as many districts are reporting an alarmingly high Covid-19 test positivity rate. Last week for instance, there were 66 districts in India — the highest of 10 in Arunachal Pradesh, followed by nine in Rajasthan — with test positivity rate of over 10 per cent.

Of late, states in the Northeast have also reported a rise in daily positive cases and positivity rate. Arunachal has banned entry without vaccination.

PM Modi instructs officials to make oxygen plants functional at earliest

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Friday reviewed the progress of oxygen augmentation and availability across the country. He was informed that four lakh oxygen beds will become functional using the PM Cares fund.

The officials briefed Modi about the progress on installation of oxygen plants, with 1,500 of them coming up across the nation with the financial support from the fund and various ministries.

"The Prime Minister instructed the officials to ensure that these plants are made functional at the earliest. They were also asked to work closely with the state governments. Officers apprised the Prime Minister that they are in regular touch with their counterparts from state governments regarding the fast-tracking of these oxygen plants," said the Prime Minister's Office (PMO) in an official statement.

The Prime Minister also called upon officials to ensure there is adequate training of hospital staff on operation and maintenance of oxygen plants. "Officials informed him that there is a training module prepared by experts and they are targeting training of around 8,000 people across the country," added the statement from the Prime Minister's Office.

It was also stated in the meeting that advanced technology, like IoT (Internet of Things) to track performance and functioning of oxygen plants at the local and national levels will be deployed. Officials informed the Prime Minister about a pilot plan being made using IoT for monitoring the oxygen plants, added the Prime Minister's Office.

Meanwhile, the Prime Minister also reviewed preparations for the facilitation of India's contingent at Tokyo 2020 Olympics. He will interact with the Olympics-bound athletes on July 13.

I resolve to discharge my duties with earnestness & continue the good work undertaken by him." Airlines are running into heavy losses and flights are witnessing lower occupancy.

No end to BJP discord as MP takes a dig at Ghosh, Bengal chief hits back

State party head calls Khan 'joker' after latter accuses him of not understanding half of things

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kolkata

THERE seems to be no let-up in the Bengal BJP as party's state president Dilip Ghosh (right) called MP Saumitra Khan as an "insane" and a "joker" because of his act of stepping down from the post of the state youth wing chief and withdrawing the resignation later.

The party state chief also fumed after Khan allegedly used a photograph of Ghosh shaking hands with Trinamool Congress spokesperson Kunal Ghosh as a display picture (DP) of one of his WhatsApp accounts and accused the state president of "not understanding half of the things".

Ghosh warned Khan saying if he didn't change with the time, there is a "system" in the party to take action.

Khan, however, changed the picture and said he had no idea how the previous picture became the DP of his WhatsApp account. Ghosh's sharp reaction came two days after Khan, in a Facebook live session, accused BJP MLA and leader of Opposition Suvendu Adhikari of misleading the party's high command in New Delhi.

Hitting out at Adhikari, Khan said: "The way the BJP is functioning in Bengal, it will not be good for future. Everything is happening here according to what a leader is saying. He is visiting Delhi again and again and misleading the party's central leadership. It is as if he sacrificed a lot for the party. There are many in the party who, too, sacrificed a lot. Dilip Ghosh understands half the words and doesn't understand half."

Hitting back, Ghosh said: "He is a youth leader. He joined BJP and has been given responsibilities. He will understand. If he doesn't, there is a system in the party to take action. There is a limit to insanity. There is always a place for jokers in politics. He is not bigger than the party. When the time comes, action will be taken against him."

A section of BJP functionaries in Bengal said Khan became frustrated after he did not find his name in the list of four MPs who were offered berths in the Union Cabinet.

Khan was not present at a youth wing meeting on Thursday headed by a state BJP general secretary Sayantan Basu.

Mukul Roy appointed PAC chairman, BJP protests

KOLKATA: Mukul Roy, who recently switched over to the ruling TMC camp after winning the state polls on a BJP ticket, was on Friday appointed as the chairperson of the important Public Accounts Committee (PAC in the Assembly by Speaker Biman Banerjee.

BJP MLAs staged a demonstration against Roy's appointment and walked out alleging convention was violated because an MLA from the Opposition is always made head of the PAC. The saffron camp had nominated Ashok Lahiri, the former chief economic advisor to the Centre and MLA from Balurghat, for the post.

"We did not nominate Roy. The ruling party wants to spend government funds and keep the accounts as well. The Speaker violated the convention," said Leader of Opposition Suvendu Adhikari.

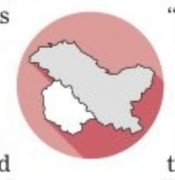
Responding to the allegation, TMC spokesperson Saugata Roy said: "There is no rule which says an opposition leader has to be made the PAC chairman." ENS

J&K delimitation process to be fair & transparent: Panel

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

WITH some political parties casting doubts over the fairness of the delimitation exercise to redraw Assembly constituencies in J&K, the Delimitation Commission, on the completion of its four-day visit to the Union territory, on Friday assured that the process would be completed in a very fair and transparent manner.

"The delimitation is a complex exercise, not just mere arithmetic. It must reflect the political aspirations of society. Though population forms a base of delimitation, the attention must be given to the geographical area, topographical difficulties, communication challenges, and public convenience," Chief Election Commissioner (CEC) and member of Delimitation Commission Sushil Chandra said. It was the commission's first visit to J&K after its formation in March last year to redraw the Assembly constituencies in the UT. The commission has been given one year's extension to complete the delimitation exercise. Chandra said the panel during its visit to J&K met 290 groups and 800 people in Srinagar, Pahalgam, Kishtwar and Jammu. "There was an overwhelming response from the groups and people," he said.



The CEC said the exercise is being carried out under the 2011 Census and J&K officials have provided the details of patwar halqas, district areas, population figures, etc. In the 2011 Census, he said, J&K had only 12 districts and the number of districts has now climbed to 20. "Similarly, there were only 58 tehsils and it has risen to 270," he said.

"In 12 districts, constituency boundaries are extended beyond limits of districts while 88 tehsils are distributed in more than one district," he said.

When asked that PDP chief Mehbooba Mufti has alleged that the delimitation was a "pre-planned exercise", commission chairperson Justice (Retd) Ranjana Prakash Desai assured that the exercise will be completed in a very fair and transparent manner.

Uttarakhand govt to send Gangajal in tankers if Kanwar yatra not allowed

DEHRADUN: With Kanwar Yatra on hold, the Uttarakhand government is planning to transport Gangajal in tankers to other states such as Uttar Pradesh, Delhi, Haryana, Madhya Pradesh and Bihar to ensure that yatris do not miss the annual pilgrimage and are able to perform the rituals without travelling to Haridwar.

The state government had on June 30 issued orders cancelling the yatra in view of the Covid-19 situation, but has been requested by its Uttar Pradesh counterpart to reconsider the decision.

"In case, the yatra is not permitted due to recent strict stance of the high court on religious gatherings, the Uttarakhand government is planning to transport Gangajal in tankers to the states from where maximum number of pilgrims arrives. The final decision on the yatra will be taken soon. If it is permitted, then it will be with restrictions," said a state government official.

The state government had cancelled the yatra last year, too, in the wake of the pandemic which hit religious tourism in Haridwar the hardest after Char Dham Yatra. However, the Yatra was allowed from June 2020 for state residents and for residents of other states, too, since last month giving some respite to the sector. Maximum Kanwar yatris come to Haridwar from the states of Delhi, UP, Haryana, Rajasthan, Punjab, Bihar, Odisha, Jharkhand, Chhattisgarh and MP. In 2019, over 3.5 crore devotees had visited Haridwar in the auspicious month of Saawan. ENS

FARMERS ANGRY

'Giving APMCs access to agri infra fund an empty gesture'

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

TERMING the Centre's announcement regarding Agriculture Infrastructure Fund (AIF) as another 'jumla' (rhetoric), the Samyukt Kisan Morcha (SKM) on Friday said farmers did not need more loans but freedom from indebtedness.

"The Union government is notorious for the jumlas it spins using a web of outright false claims and exaggerated numbers, which grab the day's headlines and mislead the public. A minor and insignificant decision about some guidelines change in the scheme, which now allows APMCs to access a financing facility under the AIF, was presented as ₹1 lakh crore allocation to APMCs. What farmers or their collectives need are not more loans, but freedom from indebtedness. And they need a legally guaranteed remunerative price for their market interfaces," said a statement by SKM.

The government had said on Thursday that APMCs will have access to ₹1 lakh crore allocated to the AIF.

The Morcha asked the government to "stop its jumlas", repeal the three "anti-farmer laws" immediately and enact a new one to guarantee remunerative MSP for all commodities.

The SKM stated that the ₹1 lakh crore reference is highly misleading because there has been " no allocation of even a thousand crore rupees from the government". "It has merely created a new head under which loans can be accessed from banks. The actual financing is dependent on commercial banks, and India's story of banking sector mismanagement and collusions with big capitalists is well-known," the statement said. "In the six months when the three farm laws were in operation before the Supreme Court suspended them, the trade in most APMC markets collapsed by almost half and their revenues dropped drastically," the statement alleged.

NGT asks committee to look into death of elephants on Southern Railway tracks

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE Environment Ministry has been asked by the National Green Tribunal (NGT) to look into the deaths of elephants taking place on railway tracks from Kottekad in Kerala and Madukkarai in Tamil Nadu.

On Friday, the apex body directed the Central Monitoring Committee constituted by the Union ministry dealing with the project 'Elephant' to look into the death.

In all, seven elephants have been killed as per the media report between 10 pm to 6 am on being hit by the trains on 'B' line and one elephant was killed on 'A' line of the map given in the media report. ' A' line runs through the reserve forest for 17 km between Chullimada-Madukkarai stations and the 'B' line passes through the reserve forest for 23 km between Madukkarai-Kanjikode stations.

A bench headed by NGT Chairperson Justice Adarsh Kumar Goel said a joint meeting needs to be held on the subject by the Central Monitoring Committee of the Ministry of Environment and Forest (MoEF) with the States of Tamil Nadu and Kerala and the Southern Railways within one month from Friday.

The Central Monitoring Committee constituted by the Ministry of Environment and Forests dealing with the project Elephant needs to look into the issue raised in the media report in coordination with the Railway Authorities, the Wildlife Institute of India and the States of Tamil Nadu and Kerala. "A joint meeting needs to be held on the subject by the Central Monitoring Committee of the MoEF with Tamil Nadu and Kerala and the Southern Railways within one month from today to work out the necessary modalities, including the authority which is to incur the necessary expenditure," the bench also comprising Justice Sudhir Agarwal said.

The tribunal passed the order after perusing the status report filed by the state of Tamil Nadu which said the reasons for death are visibility on the track being poor to the loco pilots and topography being unsuitable for the elephants to escape.

Number of youths picking up guns in Kashmir declines

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

THE Kashmir Valley is witnessing a phase of relative peace, with the number of youths joining terror organisations dropping substantially and ceasefire violations also recording a significant decline, as per the data shared by the armed forces.

Till June 1 this year, 58 youths picked up guns compared to 81 in the corresponding period last year. A total of 166 locals had joined terrorism in 2020 while their number was 119 in 2019. Till July 8 this year, army sources claimed to have neutralised 68 terrorists as against 127 in the corresponding period last year. "The good part is that the number of youth picking guns is lesser than the number of terrorists killed in the same period," said a source.

The decline is also attributed to February 25 reiteration of the ceasefire agreement which has not been violated by the Pakistan Army. There have been 592 ceasefire violations this year, all prior to the agreement. The number in the corresponding period (till July 1) last year was 2,301. There were a total of 4,635 violations in 2020 and 3,233 in 2019. Despite the decline, the forces are not letting their guards down.

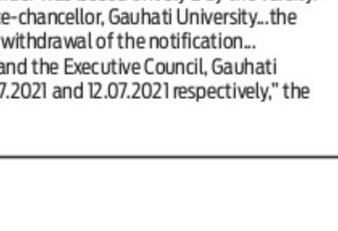
Yaks to be insured against accidents, disasters

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @Guwahati



YAK farmers in the remote Himalayas can now afford a smile, thanks to the National Insurance Company Ltd (NICL). These highlanders living in the harshest of climatic conditions used to incur regular losses due to deaths of the animal. For the first time, the NICL has decided to insure the Himalayan cattle.

India has around 58,000 yaks, found on the heights of Arunachal Pradesh, Sikkim, Himachal Pradesh and Ladakh. This bovine species is susceptible to inclement weather conditions due to climate change, diseases, attacks by wild animals, etc.

In 2019 alone, 500 yaks had died in Sikkim due to heavy snowfall. The insurance policy will now shield the yak farmers against the risks. Arunachal's West Kameng district-based National Research Centre on Yak (NRCY) has been instrumental in securing the insurance policy. Its director Mihir Sarkar played a big role in it. "After I joined the institute as the director in January, I had approached the NICL and managed to convince it on the need to get the yaks insured. It approved the policy," Sarkar, who served at the NRCY for 12 years as a scientist earlier, told this newspaper on Friday.

He said nobody had approached the NICL for the yaks' insurance in the past. "Due to the relentless efforts of ICAR-NRCY, the insurance policy for yaks was approved. It will be a big boon for the yak owners throughout the country. The policy will shield them against a number of risks posed by weather calamities, diseases, in-transit mishaps, surgical operation, strike or riots and permanent total disability for breeding or stud yaks," Dr Sarkar said.

He said the benefit of subsidy under the policy is restricted to five animals per beneficiary per household. A beneficiary may insure over five animals by paying the full premium without availing the benefit of the subsidy.

Selfie points to cheer Tokyo-bound athletes

Sports enthusiasts will now have two selfie-stick worthy places to visit in the city where there will be tons of opportunities to click the perfect picture for their Insta feed. People can visit and take selfies to show their support to the Indian sportspersons taking part in Tokyo Olympics. The selfie points – one at RG Baruah Sports Complex and the other at Dighalipukhuri – were inaugurated by the state's Sports Minister Bimal Borah. Recently, the Sports Ministry had announced a cheer up campaign whereby some 6,000 selfie points will be set up across the country to encourage the Indian contingent.

FACTORY INFERNO LEAVES 52 DEAD IN BANGLADESH

Survivors blame illegally locked main door for high number of casualties in the country's latest industrial fire accident

DHAKA

A MASSIVE BLAZE overnight that engulfed a multi-storied food and beverage factory on the outskirts of Bangladesh's capital killed at least 52 people and injured scores of others, authorities said on Friday, with many of the survivors blaming an illegally locked main door for the high number of casualties in the country's latest industrial fire accident.

Fire service officials and witnesses said the blaze broke out on Thursday evening and tore through the factory at the Rupganj area of Narayanganj. Firefighters said many of those trapped jumped off the building to save themselves from the blaze. Casualty numbers could rise as many workers were unaccounted for.

"At least 52 people have been confirmed as killed so far but we fear more bodies are inside. A search operation is underway," a district administration official told reporters at the scene, nearly 25 kilometres east of Dhaka.

Fire service officials said 49 bodies were recovered from the building site while others succumbed to their wounds on their way to or at hospitals, where many were being treated for critical wounds.

Residents in the neighbourhood said most of the factory workers were teenagers. Survivors and relatives alleged the front gate, which is the only way to enter and leave the factory premises, had been locked since the fire broke out. The factory building had no proper fire safety measures, according to the workers.

Details on what caused the fire, how many people were inside the factory and how many were still missing were not available. It is suspected that the fire originated from the ground floor of the building and spread quickly due to the presence of chemicals and plastic bottles. Television footage showed the fire was still burning at the six-story structure, emitting thick smoke while fire service officials said their search campaign continued alongside efforts to extinguish the blaze. The severe heat from the blaze has caused cracks in a part of the building. The windows were falling apart, with plumes of smoke billowing out of the factory. " We are yet to look for bodies on the fifth and sixth floors," a fire service official said.

Bangladesh has a tragic history of industrial disasters, including fire incidents at factories. In February 2019, at least 70 people were killed when an inferno ripped through Dhaka flats where chemicals were illegally stored. Another fire in Old Dhaka in a house also storing chemicals killed at least 123 people in 2010. Bangladesh imposed tougher safety rules after more than 1,100 people died when a garment factory complex collapsed near Dhaka in 2013, known as the world's worst factory disaster. PTI

Lower credit offtake to hit banks' earnings

Credit growth seen in the range of 5-5.7% in Q1; slippages to remain high till September

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AFTER a smooth recovery in the fourth quarter of the 2020-21, the renewed onslaught of the Covid-19 pandemic and the resultant partial lockdowns has put the brakes on the India banks' growth momentum. With pressure on asset quality and credit growth remaining in the range of 5-5.7%, the banking industry is likely to report a muted earnings for the first quarter of 2022. Analysts say slippages will remain high till September, especially in Q1 FY22.

A number of banks have already disclosed provisional estimates on key business parameters for the quarter ended June 2021, which reflects lower retail disbursement primarily due to the adverse impact of the second wave, resulting in the outstanding retail loan book to contact. For instance, India's most valuable lender HDFC Bank said it has seen a 30.24% quarter-on-quarter contraction in retail disbursement. In absolute terms, disbursements stood at ₹43,600 crore, lower than ₹62,500 crore disbursed during the previous quarter. Similarly, smaller peers such as AU Small Finance Bank and Equitas Finance Bank saw a 60.5% and 50% fall in disbursements, hurting their overall loan book.

30.24% Q-o-Q fall in retail loan of HDFC Bank

60.5% Fall in AU Small Finance Bank loan

50% Decline in Equitas Fin Bank disbursal

On asset quality, divergence is expected in delinquencies based on loan mix wherein exposure to MSME and MFI segments could remain under pressure with focus on collection efficiency, especially in June and July.

According to ICICI Securities, the gross NPA ratio increased 20 bps sequentially to 5.3% in the June quarter. While larger private sector banks may see about 5-15 bps sequential rise in GNPA, mid-sized banks such as City Union Bank, Bandhan Bank are expected to see higher delinquencies. In terms of collection efficiencies, banks have seen about 25-30% decline in April and May due to lockdown compared with March.

"with the asset quality outlook deteriorating once again. While economic activity has started to pick up since June, we expect business growth to remain modest over Q1 FY22 and estimate systemic loan growth of 9% for FY22," wrote analysts at Motilal Oswal.

Covid hits Ola valuation at $500-mn fund raise

₹2,300 cr The company has invested in its Tamil Nadu EV plant

$500 mn Investment came from Softbank for Ola Electric

BISMAH MALIK @ Bengaluru

RIDE-HAILING giant Ola on Friday announced raising $500 million from new investors Singapore based Temsek holdings and an affiliate of global private equity firm, Warburg Pincus, ahead of its public listing. The fresh investment comes after a gap of two years when Ola had raised $150 million in a Series J financing round and was valued at over $5 billion. Ola CEO Bhavish Aggarwal has also participated in the fresh funds raise, which reportedly is a secondary share sale with early investors including Tiger Global, Matrix Partners reducing their stakes.

The Bengaluru-headquartered firm said that the current fundraise comes ahead of its IPO without disclosing the timeline of when the company will list on stock exchanges.

With other startups having almost tripled their valuations for their public issues, Ola has steered away from announcing its current worth, especially when the revenues have been on a constant decline since the onset of the pandemic.

Sources told TNIE that the current funds raise may have come at a $500 million lesser valuation than the financing round, signaling that the businesses are yet to recover completely.

"Over the last 12 months we've made our ride-hailing business more robust, resilient and efficient. With strong recovery post-lockdown and a shift in consumer preference away from public transportation, we are well-positioned to capitalise on the various urban mobility needs of our customers," Agarwal said in a statement.

The company earlier said that its revenues witnessed a steep 90% decline during the first wave of Covid last year as lockdowns restrictions hit the shared mobility sector. However, post easing of lockdowns, Ola had said that it saw recovery in auto rides business although cab-sharing remained affected with many companies continuing to opt for work from home for its employees.

Ola's biggest investor Softbank, which has a 23% stake in the firm, has poured in $500 million in Ola Electric, which was spun off from Ola in 2019 with Aggarwal's focus on building the electric scooters for Indian markets gaining steam. Ola chief has also announced his plans of launching the EV scooter later this year.

THAILAND

THAI CENTRAL BANK WARNS AGAINST USE OF DIGITAL CURRENCY

Thailand's central bank on Thursday warned against using digital assets such as Bitcoin and Ether as payment for goods and services given what it said were risks such as cyber theft and money laundering. The Bank of Thailand (BOT) had made it clear that digital assets were not legal tender. Recently some enterprises had started soliciting payments in digital assets in exchange for goods and services, the BOT said, adding it had continuously monitored such developments. In using digital assets as a means of payment, both the payer and receiver could face risks such as price volatility, cyber theft, and money laundering, it added. However, should the use of digital assets for payments become widespread, the BOT said it would coordinate with the Securities and Exchange Commission and relevant agencies to take measures to ensure such actions did not pose risks to the public or the economic and financial system

CHINA

CHINA'S CORPORATE BOND DEFAULTS AT RECORD HIGH

China's corporate bond defaults have hit a record high this year, highlighting tightening credit conditions and a growing reluctance by regional governments to bail out troubled state-owned firms. Chinese companies' bond defaults amounted to $9.67 billion in the first half of 2021, the highest ever, according to Fitch Ratings. That increasing proportion of defaults by state-owned enterprises (SOEs) has raised concerns among investors that the end of implicit government guarantees on SOE debt could create market instability. 25 firms defaulted on bond payments in the first six months of 2021, compared with 19 last year, data showed. China's SOEs contributed to more than half of the defaults, and concerns over their ability to service debts sparked global alarm in April after China Huarong Asset Management missed a March 31 deadline for filing its 2020 earnings.

SOUTH KOREA

STOCKS POST WORST WEEK SINCE FEB ON COVID SURGE

South Korean shares fell on Friday to mark their worst week since late February on concerns over rising Covid-19 infections. The Korean won weakened, while the benchmark bond yield rose. The won has lost 5.5% against the dollar so far this year. The benchmark KOSPI fell 34.73 points, or 1.07%, to 3,217.95. It fell about 2% for the week. Among heavyweights, technology giant Samsung Electronics fell 0.63% and peer SK Hynix dropped 1.65%, while LG Chem lost 3.03%. Some investors are going back to safe-haven assets and away from emerging markets as virus cases are spiking, said Lee Kyoung-min, an analyst at Daishin Securities. South Korea will raise anti-coronavirus restrictions to the highest level in Seoul and some neighbouring regions for two weeks from Monday, Prime Minister Kim Boo-kyum said, after new Covid-19 cases climbed to a daily record for the second day running.

At 6.1%, RBI auctions bond with cut-off yield above benchmark rate

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Hyderabad

IF in the past, the RBI said there was nothing 'sacrosanct' about the 6% yield for the 10-year benchmark bond, on Friday, it walked the talk. Perhaps considering volatile inflation, crude prices and US treasury yields, the central bank shook off its unease and issued the government's new 10-year bond at a cut-off yield of 6.1%. This is higher than the 5.85% coupon for the current benchmark.

A mere 10 bps rise may not seem much, but in bond markets it's a critical breakaway point from the perceived yield cap of 6%. The yield on 10-year paper is also the single-most crucial metric under watch currently as it influences interest rates across financial products. Importantly, Friday's cut-off at 6.1% indeed signals a rising rate curve.

But as Governor Shaktikanta Das indicated earlier, the central bank closely monintors other tenors including 5- and 14-year papers and not just the 10-year security. It'll be interesting to see how the yield curve moves from here.

Following Friday's auction, yields on current benchmark bonds shot up to 6.19% from 6.16%. The previous 10-year benchmark paper (5.85% 2030) has been trading in the secondary market at around 6.18%.

There has been a demand-supply mismatch in bond markets, but Friday's auction somewhat puts to rest the brewing tussle between RBI and traders. In the past, auctions had to devolved amid weak response from bond buyers. Making up for the lost market appetite, the central bank turned into an aggressive buyer and ended up owning most of the 10-year gilts. "Since May, 28 the 10-year paper has either seen a devolvement of large bids or cancellation of the instrument. This is the first auction after May 2021 when neither there is a devolvement of bids to primary dealers nor there is green shoe option which has been exercised for any instrument," Care Ratings noted.

Friday's auction included reissuance of two existing bonds besides ₹14,000 crore of the new benchmark, ₹12,000 crore worth papers of short and longer tenors.

So far in FY22, the central government raised ₹3.78 lakh crore, or 31.4% of the total budgeted borrowing limit of ₹12.05 lakh crore. This is over half of the H1-borrowings of ₹7.24 lakh crore. The total borrowings by the central government so far are 8.5% lower than the corresponding period last year. The highest share of issuances has been in case of the 14-year paper (23%), followed by the 40-year paper (16%) and 10-year paper (15%), according to Care.

The weighted average yields fell to a 3-week low of 6.27%, 2 bps lower than the previous week. During the first 2-auctions of July'21, the weighted average yields have seen a spike with the highest noted in case of 40-year paper (15 bps) followed by 5-year, 30-yr paper (13 bps) and 10-yr paper (11 bps).

INDIA-UK TALKS

Insurance and banking remain focus area for both sides

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

BANKING, insurance and capital market remain key focus areas during the the first India-UK Financial Markets Dialogue on Thursday, as both the country prepares to close the Foreign Trade Agreement by end of this year.

The first meeting of the dialogue began with a government-to-government discussion focused on four themes: GIFT (Gujarat International Finance Tec-City) City, banking and payments, insurance, and capital markets, Finance Ministry said in a statement.

Both sides agreed to engage on these areas in coming months, in the run-up to the next Economic and Financial Dialogue, expected to take place later this year

India-UK trade has more than doubled since the first EFD in 2007, with bilateral investment supporting over half a million jobs across both countries. India-UK economic ties are important as together, they are two of the world's top seven economies with a combined gross domestic product (GDP) of over $5 trillion.

The first dialogue on Thursday was led by senior officials from the India's finance ministry and HM Treasury with participation from Indian and UK independent regulatory agencies.

Reserve Bank of India (RBI), the Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI), International Financial Services Centre Authority, Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority of India, the Bank of England, and the Financial Conduct Authority were the participating agencies at the event.

A report presented in the meeting focused on enhancing the Indian debt capital markets ecosystem, as well as making it easier for Indian companies to raise capital internationally – to support India's growth potential, infrastructure needs and enhancing the country's sustainable energy capacity.

RBI pegs states' Q2 borrowing at ₹1.92 lakh cr

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Reserve Bank of India (RBI) on Friday pegged the total market borrowing of state governments and Union territories in Q2 FY22 at ₹1.92 lakh crore, 3% higher than the total State Development Loan (SDL) issuance of ₹1.86 lakh crore in Q2 of last year.

Cash-strapped states such as Maharashtra, West Bengal, Uttar Pradesh and Tamil Nadu are expected to resort to higher market borrowings during July-September quarter of the current financial year as the second wave of the pandemic wreaks havoc on their finances. These four states are projected to cumulatively raise nearly 40 per cent of the total issuance, according to the central bank data.

The indicative calendar of market borrowings for Q2 FY22 released by the RBI on July 1, 2021, had pegged the states' market borrowing at ₹1.69 lakh crore. However, the figures have been revised to add Uttar Pradesh with respect to their proposed borrowing in the current quarter.

In Q1 FY22, the gross SDL issuance stood at ₹1.44 lakh crore, only 81% of the initially indicated ₹1.78 lakh despite the widening state-level restrictions amidst the second covid-19 wave, and their associated negative impact on economic activity. During the same quarter of the Covid-19 hit 2020-2021, a total of twenty states and one Union territory had cumulatively raised ₹1.67 lakh crore. Analysts say that the lower quantum of market borrowing in Q1 FY22 could largely be ascribed to the lower expenditure undertaken by the states relative to their income.

"In our view, the state governments' cash flow situation in Q1 was bolstered by three major factors, namely the receipt of additional tax devolution of ₹45,000 crore from the government in late-March, record-high GST inflows of ₹1.4 lakh crore in April that pertained to activity in the previous month, and receipt of substantial transfers related to the Fifteenth Finance Commission's recommendations by some states," according to ratings firm Icra.

SBI chief economic adviser Soumya Kanti Ghosh says, incremental reforms by states in power and local bodies could potentially add at least ₹72,000 crore to states' kitty in FY22.

Zomato trading at 20% premium in grey mrkt; experts upbeat on IPO

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

A day after Zomato formally announced the launch date and details of its upcoming IPO, its shares are trading at a premium of over 20% in the grey market. According to data available on IPO Watch on Friday, Zomato shares were trading at a premium of ₹16 per share on the upper IPO price band of ₹76.

The unlisted shares of the company were available on the grey market at ₹92 per share, signalling high subscription and listing gain.

"Going by size it is going to be the second biggest IPO after SBI Cards. We believe that investors will get a decent listing gains as the grey market premium is around ₹14-17 which is around 21% more than the price band," said Gaurav, head of Research, CapitalVia Global Research. SBI Cards' IPO was subscribed by over 26 times in March last year. However, it opened 13% down from the issue price as Covid-19 was about to wreck global economy.

Garg added that the success of Zomato would depend on its ability to derive operational efficiencies and turn profitable quickly. If Zomato is able to do so, it can be one of the biggest wealth creators, he said. Founded in 2008, Zomato continue to incur losses and has never reported profit. Last fiscal, Zomato's net losses stood at over ₹800 crore. This, according to some analysts, is a big concern.

Jyoti Roy, deputy vice president (Equity Strategist) at Angel Broking, said that the IPO is being valued at a price/sales of 28.3x to 29.9x of FY21 revenues of ₹1,993 cr, which is at a premium to other global food delivery platforms like Meituan, Doordash, Delivery Hero.

"we believe that FY21 was an aberration as business was impacted significantly due to the first Covid wave and the ensuing lockdowns. However, given the strong growth prospects, high barriers to entry and duopoly nature of the food delivery business, in India we believe that Zomato will command a premium to global peers and hence are positive on the future growth prospects of the company," Roy said.

Despite 2nd Covid wave, high global prices help Indian steel firms shine

JONATHAN ANANDA @ Chennai

BOLSTERED by strong global demand driving export orders, India's top steel companies seem to have shrugged off the impact of the second Covid-19 wave. Both analysts and industry executives note that prospects for the sector look quite rosy, allowing them to not only increase capital expenditure (capex) to prepare for the expected surge in future demand, but also continue paring down debt. The large gap between international and domestic demand during this summer also led to a reversal of sorts, with India turning into a net exporter of steel.

Between April 1 and July 9, 2021, stock prices rose in tandem with rising global steel demand—Steel Authority of India (SAIL) rose 58.6%, JSW Steel by 45.42%, Jindal Steel & Power 14.7%, and Tata Steel 52.62%.

Investors are banking on the increase in margins predicted by analysts as global economic recovery accelerates infrastructure creation, though concerns over the domestic market remain due to the "slow pace of vaccination, which may fail to prevent a third wave", according to a senior executive in one of India's private sector steel firms.

GAINING STRENGTH

- SAIL is expected to record best-ever EBIDTA of ₹20,000 cr in Q1FY22
- JSW Steel plans ₹25,000-cr capex over the next five years
- Tata Steel to invest ₹60,000-cr in 5 years to ramp up capacity

A Crisil Ratings review predicts that high steel prices will "lift the operating margin of primary steel manufacturers by 500 basis points (5%) this fiscal year". "Global steel prices, rallying from last year's lows, were up 2.1 times on-year in June, reaching the highs last seen in 2008. While some easing is likely over the rest of 2021, prices may average $750-800 per tonne, still up 60% on-year," it added.

SAIL, which Motilal Oswal says, is expected to record best-ever EBIDTA of ₹20,000 crore during the first quarter (Q1FY22). Private players such as Tata Steel, JSW Steel, and JSPL are also looking to expand capex.

'Port of Antwerp hub to enhance India-EU trade'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

LOGISTICS service providers were urged to explore the idea of setting up "India hub at the Port of Antwerp" to enable Indian exporters make use of such a facility and emerge as reliable suppliers to their European customers.

This was suggested by Luc Arnouts, Vice President International Relations, Antwerp Port Authority, during a virtual interaction titled "Translating the India-EU Trade enhancement and Connectivity plan into action" on Friday.

Arnouts highlighted how Antwerp Port can present itself as the nearshoring venue for centralized stocking and distribution point for Indian maritime cargo exported across Europe and the UK, against the background of its excellent connectivity to markets and ample warehousing at attractive rates.

The interaction was organised against the backdrop of the India-EU leaders meeting held on May 8, which was led by Prime Minister Narendra Modi and the heads of EU members states and EU representatives.

The objective behind this session was to share insights and ideas on strengthening trade between the India-EU corridor with the Port of Antwerp,

Covid cases push back Ind-SL series

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

AS expected, India's limited-overs series against Sri Lanka was pushed back by four days on Friday due to emergence of Covid-19 positive cases in the host's camp. The series, which was originally scheduled to begin on July 13 in Colombo with the first of the three ODIs, is now expected to begin on July 17, provided there are no further setbacks.

"The series has been rescheduled and is expected to start from July 17 now. We are negotiating with the Indian cricket board (BCCI) and announce the new schedule soon," a Sri Lanka Cricket official confirmed.

India, led by opener Shikhar Dhawan, are scheduled to play three ODIs and as many T20Is in the series. As per the original schedule, the 50-overs matches were scheduled on July 13, 16 and 18 followed by T20Is on July 21, 23 and 25. It is learnt that the ODIs are now scheduled for July 17, 19, and 21 while the T20Is will be played on July 24, 25, and 27.

The first real concerns emerged after seven members in the England squad — Sri Lanka's opponent's last week — tested Covid-19 positive a day after the limited-overs series. As a precautionary measure, Sri Lanka placed their squad in quarantine till July 12, but two days after arriving in Colombo, their batting coach Grant Flower tested positive on Thursday.

Three bio-bubbles

Sources also said that SLC has created three bio-bubbles to ensure series goes on even if first-choice players remain unavailable. While two bubbles are set up in two hotels in Colombo, the third one is created in Dambulla where 70 players are training. "A total of six players from 12, who did not travel to England, were included in the proposed squad. If need arises, more will be included from the group training in Dambulla," said sources.

DJOKO KEEPS ROMAN DATE

Berrettini beats Hurkacz to become first Italy man to reach final, to face World No 1

AP @London

CRIES of "Vai!" (Go!), "Forza!" (Let's go!) and even "Andiamo, amore mio!" (Let's go, my love!) rang through Centre Court, supporting Matteo Berrettini in his native tongue on his way to becoming Italy's first Grand Slam finalist in 45 years.

With booming serves delivering 22 aces, and powerful forehands helping compile a total of 60 winners, Berrettini used an 11-game run to grab a big lead and then held on to beat No 14 Hubert Hurkacz 6-3, 6-0, 6-7 (3), 6-4 at Wimbledon on Friday. "I have no words. Really. Just, 'Thanks.' And I need, I think, a couple of hours to understand what happened," Berrettini told the capacity crowd. "I just know I played a great match. ….."

Berrettini has created quite a sporting Sunday in London for Italy. After he plays in the Wimbledon final that afternoon — the first for a man from his country in a title match at any Major since Adriano Panatta won the 1976 French Open — Italy will meet England at Wembley Stadium in the final of soccer's European Championship that night. "So far, it's the best day, tenniswise, of my life," said the 25-year-old Berrettini, who lost his only previous major semifinal at the 2019 US Open.

"Hopefully Sunday's going to be even better," he said.

Nole breaks into 7th final

Novak Djokovic reached his 30th Grand Slam final on Friday with a straight sets win over Canada's Denis Shapovalov to move one victory away from a sixth Wimbledon title and record-equalling 20th major title.

The world number one triumphed 7-6 (7/3), 7-5, 7-5 in a tense semifinal in which he crucially saved 10 of 11 break points. This is Djokovic's seventh Wimbledon final.

First-timers seek Grand finish

Czech Republic's Karolina Pliskova will play Australia's Ashleigh Barty in Saturday's Wimbledon final after the duo reached the championship match for the first time. Here's a lowdown on the finalists...

Elite problem solver

The Australian doesn't let external factors affect her and trusts herself to work through it if the wind is blowing against her. She hasn't had a flawless Wimbledon — her serves have been hot and cold and she has allowed opponents to build momentum in tight situations — but she has always been able to find answers.

Service, key to win

With the Czech the obvious area to keep an eye on is her service. She has been only been broken four times in six matches and those things really help in a pressure cooker match. If she is able to settle her nerves with a few love holds, that will put more pressure on the Barty serve.

LIVE ON STAR SPORTS @ 6.30 PM

Will not be Messi vs Neymar

Whenever these matches come around, there is a tendency to label it as a battle of two players blessed with great skill. However, this will not be like that. Messi has undoubtedly been the player of the tournament (four goals and five assists) but Brazil's system is such that it allows Neymar to be more subtle. He doesn't need to create or be on the end of things to have an effect as they are blessed with more matchwinners. Saying that, the PSG attacker will relish the chance to run at the likes of Nicolas Otamendi and German Pezzella.

NEYMAR

Familiar foes meet

The oldest international football competition will see the latest installment of the sport's two greatest rivals going head to head. Here's a look at Saturday's Copa final between Argentina and Brazil...

LIVE ON SONY PICTURES NETWORKS (AT 5 AM ON SUNDAY)

2014 Brazil are yet to lose a match at home since their 0-3 defeat against Netherlands in the third-place match at the 2014 World Cup

108 It will be the 108th meeting between the two sides (Brazil have won 43, with Argentina 39)

0 Casemiro is yet to lose a single competitive match for Brazil

04 This is just the fourth time these two will be meeting in the final, with Argentina triumphing the first time in 1937 and Brazil coming out on top in 2004 and 2007.

LIONEL MESSI

Solid structure vs Messi & 10 others

What Brazil have done really well is their insistence on team cohesion, defensive shape and attacking within a system. While Neymar is allowed to roam freely, the others have to stick to instructions. It's what most modern teams do. Argentina are more improvisational, a more impromptu team. There is greater dependence on Lionel Messi but because they aren't coached as well, there is still a question mark over team shape. Their defenders also don't like when opponents are driving towards goal.

Chikka leaving no stone unturned to help Lahiri

ASHIM SUNAM @Bengaluru

ON SUNDAY, India golfer S Chikkarangappa left for Ahmedabad for two reasons primarily. Firstly, he wanted to get some training under the watchful eyes of coach Vijay Devecha. More importantly, the Bengaluru man made some important notes as to what Aniban Lahiri, who will take Chikkarangappa as his caddie for the Olympics, has been working on in the last couple of months or so. He also wanted to understand if Lahiri has made changes in his game.

It is important to note that both the golfers share the same coach, who recently returned to India after spending more than 70 days with Lahiri in the USA. "I wanted to understand exactly what Anirban is working on his game so that I get a good idea of what are the things I need to watch out for before heading to Tokyo," Chikkarangappa said.

"Of course (I am also going well prepared). Trust me, this is not a holiday for me. It is a matter of pride and honour for me. We will also have a discussion over the practice rounds on what we will do and I will see what he is doing and make further notes."

Eye on WTC future as ICC begins talks

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

WITH momentum gaining in the International Cricket Council (ICC) to introduce two divisions in World Test Championship (WTC) from 2023-25 cycle, all eyes are on which way Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) will swing. Beginning with annual conference scheduled for July 15, the ICC board will discuss pros and cons of having two divisions and there is a strong indication that some of the member nations are in favour of it.

Recently, the ICC decided to continue with the WTC in the next Future Tours Programme (2023-31), but the format and the number of teams is yet to be agreed upon. At present, there are 12 teams with Test status, but only nine of the them feature in the WTC. In 2019, when the WTC first cycle was formalised, the ICC had plans to introduce Zimbabwe and new entrants Afghanistan and Ireland from the 2021-23 cycle. However, none of these teams find a place in the cycle that begins with India's five-match Test series in England.

Since becoming a full member in 2018, Ireland has been facing a financial crisis and even before the onset of Covid-19 pandemic, Cricket Ireland had to cancel a Test and T20 series against Afghanistan. In the current circumstances, while the ICC board went with the logical decision to leave these teams out of the WTC cycle, they have to arrive at a decision about their future soon. At present, none of the full-members have offered to play more than a Test against these teams.

Hence, a two-division format has been floated, which will see the top eight teams play in the First Division and five in the other with promotion and relegation based on standings in the WTC points table. Such a move will have adverse effects on these countries' finances as they won't be able to get any revenue through broadcasters. This is why some member countries are banking on the BCCI to stall this two division format, like it did in 2016.

"Almost every member banks on India for a full-fledged tour every four years. That will not be possible in two-division format, and that will lead to losses. In this post-pandemic world, it is important for each member to take care of the other. Moreover, this two-division plan also depends on what these new members' say and if they are not interested to play Tests, then BCCI can't do anything about it," sources tracking this development said.

Olympic flame arrives in Tokyo post fan ban

TOKYO: The Olympic flame arrived in Tokyo on Friday with just two weeks until the Games open, as athletes and fans mourned a "heartbreaking" decision to bar spectators from almost all venues. In a taste of what is to come for thousands of athletes, the public was kept away from the arrival of the flame and a welcoming ceremony was attended only by the media and officials. As the final countdown to the July 23 opening ceremony begins, the mood is far from the usual festive Olympic spirit.

Pfizer pitches for third shot as Asia reels

Pharma major says the additional dose might boost jab efficacy against the Delta strain; Indonesia turns hotspot

COVID

WASHINGTON: Pfizer and BioNTech said they would seek authorization for a third dose of their Covid-19 vaccine to boost its efficacy as the Delta variant drove devastating outbreaks in Asia, including in Thailand where fresh curbs were announced Friday.

With the pandemic once again wreaking havoc, Japan banned fans from most Olympic events and placed Tokyo under a virus state of emergency throughout the Games just two weeks before the opening ceremony. The highly-transmissible Delta variant, first detected in India, is sweeping across the globe as countries race to vaccinate their populations to ward off fresh outbreaks.

Pfizer and BioNTech said Thursday they expected that a third dose will perform well against the strain, and that they would be seeking authorization in the United States, Europe and other regions in coming weeks. Initial data from an ongoing trial showed a third shot pushed antibody levels five to 10 times higher against the original coronavirus strain and the Beta variant, first detected in South Africa, compared with the first two doses alone, according to a statement. The companies said they expected similar results for Delta – but added they were also developing a vaccine specifically tailored to fight the deadly strain.

The news came as Thailand battled a fresh outbreak on its shores, forcing authorities to roll out fresh restrictions, including a 9:00 pm to 4:00 am curfew in Bangkok and banning non-essential travel across the country, normally overrun by tourists at this time of year. Elsewhere in Asia, Vietnam's Ho Chi Minh City went into a two-week lockdown, with residents now barred from gathering in groups, and people are only allowed to leave home to buy food, medicine. In Indonesia, desperately needed supplies of oxygen and protective equipment arrived from neighbouring Singapore. Indonesia has become a global Covid-19 hotspot, with a fierce outbreak leaving hospitals struggling to cope with the surge.

Dwarf cow a big draw in Dhaka

NATURE

People in hundreds defied Covid restrictions in Bangladesh to catch a glimpse of Rani, a 51-cm-tall cow being touted as the world's smallest. The 23-month-old dwarf cow has become a media star, with scores of newspapers and television stations throwing the spotlight on the tiny bovine at a farm near Dhaka. Pictures of Rani on social media platforms have set off a tourist frenzy. Rani is 66 centimetres long and weighs only 26 kilograms but the owners say it is 10 centimetres shorter than the smallest cow in Guinness World Records. M A Hasan Howlader, manager of Shikor Agro farm, used a tape measure to show dozens of onlookers how Rani dwarfs her closest rival Manikyam, a cow in the Indian state Kerala that currently holds the world record. Guinness World Records said Manikyam, from the Vechur breed, was 61 centimetres high in June 2014. Rani is a Bhutti, or Bhutanese, cow which is prized for its meat in Bangladesh.

Rising global temperature making humans smaller, claim Cambridge researchers

STUDY

LONDON: Climate has changed the size of human bodies and, to some extent, human brains, research suggests. The average body size has fluctuated over the last million years and is strongly linked to temperature, according to the new study. Colder, harsher climates drove the evolution of larger body sizes, while warmer climates led to smaller bodies. And while brain size has also changed dramatically, it did not evolve in tandem with body size, researchers found.

The study, led by the Universities of Cambridge and Tubingen, gathered measurements of body and brain size for more than 300 fossils from the genus Homo found across the globe. Experts pinpointed the specific climate experienced by each fossil when it was a living human by combining this data with a reconstruction of the world's regional climates over the last million years.

Our species, Homo sapiens, emerged around 300,000 years ago in Africa. But the genus Homo has existed for much longer, and includes the Neanderthals and other extinct, related species such as Homo habilis and Homo erectus. A defining trait of the evolution of our genus is a trend of increasing body and brain size. Compared to earlier species such as Homo habilis, humans are 50 per cent heavier and our brains are three times larger.

Professor Andrea Manica, a researcher in the University of Cambridge's department of zoology, who led the study, said: "Our study indicates that climate – particularly temperature – has been the main driver of changes in body size for the past million years."

The researchers also found that brain size tended to be larger when Homo was living in habitats with less vegetation, like open steppes and grasslands, but also in ecologically more stable areas. In combination with archaeological data, the results suggest those living in these habitats hunted large animals as food – a complex task that might have driven the evolution of larger brains.

Brass, bronze, clay and cast iron cookware are not just a thing of the past, says Bengalureans, who are showing a renewed interest in traditional pots and pans owing to health reasons

SIMRAN AHUJA

IF homes turned into makeshift offices, kitchens became the epicentre of health and wellness as everyone cooked up a storm of immunity-boosting drinks and dishes. As we prepare ourselves for a future of uncertainties, many people are looking at the past to get a better handle on their health. Stores selling traditional cookware made of brass, bronze, iron, cast iron, clay and soapstone are reporting an increased demand in these times. According to Meera Ramakrishnan, co-founder, Zishta, the demand has doubled. Ramakrishnan, along with co-founders Varishta Sampath and Archish Mathe Madhavan, opened the first outlet in Bengaluru in 2017. This year, they also expanded their physical store presence to Chennai. "The pandemic gave everyone time to pause and make a lifestyle change," says Ramakrishnan.

This transformation isn't just limited to the food we eat but how we make it as well. And that's where traditional cookware shines. "Most of the modern-day vessels are chemically treated. Traditional vessels, like those made with clay and soapstone, do not have chemical seasoning and also come with a host of benefits," says Kayal Vizhi R, who runs Essential Traditions by Kayal with Sriram N and Ramkumar R.

Lakshmi K, who uses such cookware often, also explains how teflon pots and pans often leach chemicals into the food, which would make steel a better alternative, since it doesn't react with the food. "Traditional cookware is a level higher, it imparts good minerals instead," says the yoga teacher and Forex trader.

Saritha Hegde, founder of not just hot, knew she wanted to use nothing other than her collection of traditional cookware to make sauces and more for her customers. So far, Hegde has used her collection to make a variety of dishes like omelettes, sandwiches, grilled meat, Thai curry, kimchi, etc. "I do all my cooking in clay pots or a cast iron pan. I don't even have a microwave. Cast iron keeps the food piping hot for much longer so I don't even have to reheat anything and lose out on nutrients," she explains. Hegde now plans to put out a video about using such cookware, where one can begin and how to maintain them. "Earlier, people wouldn't even notice something like the vessels being used. But after the pandemic, many ask me about it," she says.

But how does traditional cookware fit into a modern kitchen? Beauty lies in the eyes of the beholder, say most users. Poonam Jethwani started using cast iron vessels for more than just dosaes or rotis a year ago. Now, she serves her food straight out of a cast iron skillet and says, "The important thing about cooking with cast iron is its versatility. It can be used with anything - open flames on gas or ovens. It adds iron to our food. It's a reminder of healthy food and that, naturally, looks great too."

WHY GO TRADITIONAL

- Bronze, soapstone, Manipuri black pottery retains heat for 2 to 3 hours, eliminating the need to reheat. Scientifically, reheating food is not advisable as nutrients are lost.
- Food cooked in bronze retain over 95 per cent of the nutrients and the flavour.
- They enrich the food with minerals. For example, cooking in iron enriches food with iron; cooking in soapstone enriches food with calcium and magnesium; drinking water from copper enriches water with copper.

Prataya Saha's film, revolving around abuse some women face during pregnancy, is winning accolades across festivals

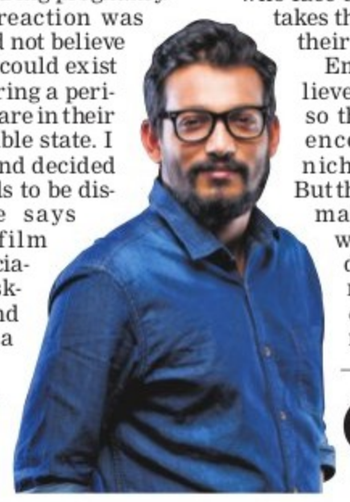
EXPRESS FEATURES

Lens on life

AS an artiste, Prataya Saha is often drawn to the struggles that women in particular face in a patriarchal society. It is a deep-rooted connection with his childhood in the '90s when he saw how women were treated differently from men. In line with this, his latest film, Just Another Day draws attention to a raging topic of modern times - depression, abuse during pregnancy and the perception of separated/divorced women in society. The neo-realist film has won accolades at the Madras Independent film festival, Chennai; Indo French International film festival, Pondicherry; and is a semi-finalist at the Lisbon Film Rendezvous, Portugal.

During his research on abuse for his previous film The Good Wife, he came across an article about how women are treated during pregnancy. "My initial reaction was shock. I could not believe such a thing could exist in society during a period when they are in their most vulnerable state. I dug deeper and decided that this needs to be discussed," he says about the film made in association with Desktop Films and Red Polka Productions.

Through the happenings of a single day, the story traces the life of a 40-something newly-separated woman, as she navigates another 24 hours of her life in the busy city of Mumbai. Through Anjali, the audience is made to live the agony of hundreds of women who face stigma for mistakes that are not even their own.



Empathy, he believes, is universal so the target audience needn't be niche or specific. But the challenges in making the film were many. "Production cost multiplied because we had to maintain Covid-appropriate precautions. Secondly, while planning the film during pre-production, we had to make sure we took into account safety considerations which stretched the entire process," he says, adding that after the film was scripted, Anshulilka Kapoor, the lead protagonist, did her own research on the role to try to get into the skin of the character. "We used the theatre approach here: Multiple rehearsals and readings. The entire process took four months," he says, adding that the film has led him to understand the beasts human beings can be and wants the world to discuss this issue that is often swept under the carpet.

In Sanskrit, 'supta' means reclined, 'titali asana' means butterfly pose. It is a variation and a dynamic practice of Supta Baddha Konasana (Reclining Bound Angle Pose). This beginner-level dynamic flow is done to open the hips and can form part of the hip-opening sequences and added to kids yoga sequence. It helps boost energy in the body and hence can be included in flow yoga sequences. It is considered a warm-up yoga pose to prepare the body for more intense yoga poses/yoga flows.

- It helps to promote good spinal alignment and release of excess tension.
- Placing the thighs on the floor begin with the practice of supine butterfly pose flow, flapping the thighs up and down.
- You can continue and coordinate with the breath, moving the hips up and down.

JUST WANTING 'IN'!

Dancer and actor Mallika Sarabhai with filmmaker and author Saeed Mirza

THERE is definitely a chirp in my voice and a spring in my step because I am in my 'native' Mumbai (as we fondly call it namma ooru). I am in the eye of the storm while mayhem reigns around me. My children (very big young adults), two dogs and a husband. Whew! Of course everyone is working from home (except lucky Alisha, my daughter) so in between stage whispers, not getting caught on one's Zoom meeting in one's nightclothes or shorts, and trying to (unsuccessfully) keep two yapping dogs quiet while tripping over doggie toys, life is just dandy!

I swear I wouldn't exchange this cacophony for all the perfumes in Arabia. I came here to trip over family! I was going mad in my super big, clean and organised empty home in Bangalore, with great weather and an uninterrupted access to OTT services. I was miserable! I know now, how those Disney princesses must have felt locked up in their ivory towers. I wanted my 'bachas'! Fights, arguments, laughter and gluttonous eating sessions... totally unplanned, uninhibited, raucous (still cautious) and celebratory in nature... isn't that what life is all about? If I get any more advice on yoga, meditation and the likes, I swear I'm going to scream! All of us are dealing with our demons. We have all experienced illness, death loss of income and the general loss of 'the way we were'. I think that most of us have dealt with it in a stoic and powerful manner. Sometimes a certain scary calm descends upon me and that creeps me out. Are we getting used to loss? Is this really an apocalypse?

Reaching out to friends and family via calls and videos just seems the closest to 'normal' I have felt in a long time. Mumbai is still in a state of a partial lockdown. All retail and eating establishments close by four and a curfew extends over the weekends. Yet, nothing keeps the average Mumbaiker down. Everybody here seems to be working along with the stringent measures rather than around it. There is a heightened sense of citizen responsibility and one can order from a pin to an elephant (or a jet) by 4pm!

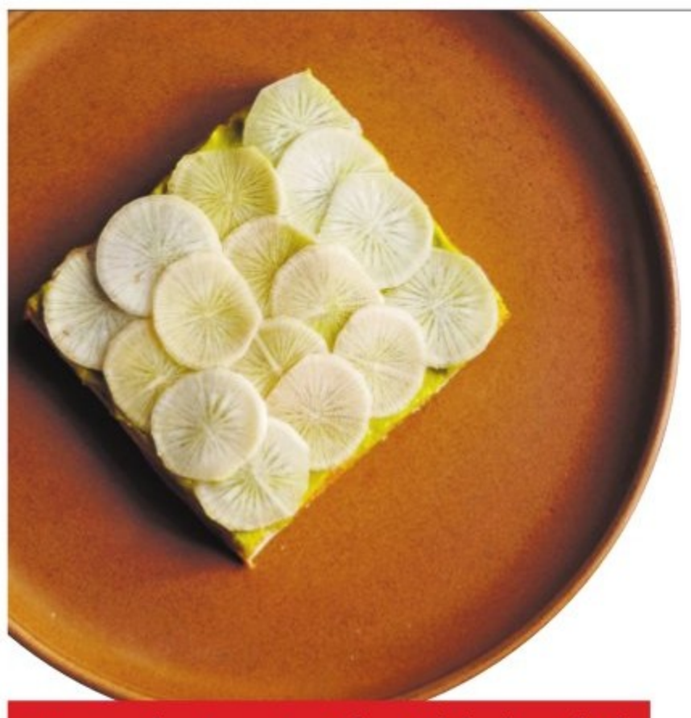
As soon as I landed I connected with the 'Mirzas', a couple who had a profound influence in my life. Saeed Mirza is a film-maker, writer, a political and social commentator, scriptwriter, author and the nicest and most interesting person I know. Being good friends with his wife Jennifer just makes this relationship more symbiotic. They were our neighbours in Mumbai. I was a young and restless woman with two infant children and at crossroads in my career. I could see into their drawing room from my kitchen window and I would always espy a motley crew of interesting people. Writers, actors' intellectuals and Shah Rukh Khan! Saeed has shown me a lot of firsts. He is a man who believes in what his does. A graduate from FTII, he made avant garde movies which may not have been commercially successful, but iconic even today. His award winning movies like Albert Pinto, Mohan Joshi, Salim Langde and Naseem have swept up all the awards like his soul stirring documentaries that give one a 'soul-sight' into the people and topography of India. He went to work happy, whistling with a skip in his step, His office was in the next building and I could get a glimpse of that too. I just wanted in.

He gave me the courage to follow my passions. I am always speechless around him (quite a feat). He travels to exotic places to write his books. He is in Kashmir now, writing a book of his journey with good-friend and colleague, the late film maker Kundan Shah. He once went to Syria with an empty bottle to capture the country's air.

Oh Lord! I want in.

THE TIME IS RIPE

Mash it, bake it or slurp it... There's a lot you can do with the nutrient-rich avocado. Here are some quick and simple recipes to try once the fruit matures



Avocado toast with pickled radish

INGREDIENTS

For the avacado mash
1 avocado
3 tbsp olive oil
1 pinch salt
2 tsp lime juice
For the pickled radish
1 small radish, thinly sliced into rounds
1/2 cup distilled vinegar
1/2 cup water
2 tbsp sugar
1/2 tsp salt
1 red chilli diced (optional)
Other
A slice of brioche bread
Butter for toasting

METHOD

1. To make the pickled radish, combine vinegar, water, sugar and salt in a glass container until the sugar is dissolved. Put your radish and chilli into this liquid. Cover and refrigerate for at least six hours or up to one week before using.

2. The next day, slice your avocado and put it into a blender along with oil, salt and lemon juice. Blitz it into a smooth purée. Oil makes the avocado purée take up a smooth and fluffy texture so try not to skimp on it.

3. Toast your brioche slice with butter on a pan. Smother your avocado purée (as much as you like). Now place your pickled radish on top of the toast. Enjoy!

Cheers to beer

SURAJ KUMAR

WHETHER you are a beer connoisseur or just starting out on your discovery of beer, it always helps to know what to look for. The first step is to understand what beer is made of. Basically, beer comes in two varieties, lagers and ales. While lagers have a lighter colour and taste and are the most common, ales are darker, more robust, and have a stronger, fruitier taste. The fundamental ingredients of beer are barley, hops, yeast, and water and other ingredients are added to give each beer its unique characteristics.

When trying out a new beer, use the same basic principles used to appreciate wine. Look for colour, body, smell and taste. Beers can be amber, red, brown or black. If the head leaves trails on the edge of the glass, it usually means it's a higher quality beer. Try to pick out different smells - just like wine, beer has a bouquet. Does the beer have a light or a full body? Take time to taste it. Good beer is complex and has a wide range of flavours in each sip. Finding a beer you love, not just one you tolerate, is well worth the effort.

Popular types of beer include:

Ale

The oldest type of beer, ale is a general category of beer which includes brown, blonde, and pale ales, and is a warm-temperature fermentation for a relatively short period of time.

Lager

Lagers are a newer style of beer with two key differences from ales. Lagers ferment for a long time at a low temperature, and they rely on bottom-fermenting yeasts.

Porter

A type of ale, porter beers are known for their dark black colour and roasted malt aroma and notes.

Stout

Like porters, stouts are dark, roasted ales.

India Pale Ale

Originally, IPA was a British pale ale brewed with extra hops to make the beer stable enough to survive the long boat trip to India without getting spoilt.

Wheat

An easy-drinking, light style of beer, wheat beers are known for a soft, smooth flavor.

Pilsner

A subspecies of lager, Pilsners are among the hoppiest, and generally have a dry, slightly bitter flavor.

Sour Ale

An ancient style of beer that's taken off in popularity, sour ales are crafted from wild yeasts, like sourdough bread.

Remember, there is no such thing as a bad beer. It's just that some taste better than others.

Unsettling, gut-wrenching, riveting

ELIZE MATSUNAGA: ONCE UPON A CRIME

Starring: Gilli Messer, Stephanie Sherry

Streaming on: Netflix

Directed by: Eliza Capai

RAM VENKAT SRIKAR

Halfway through Netflix's latest true-crime limited series, Elize Matsunaga: Once Upon a Crime, a journalist talks about the layman's fascination with solving crimes, despite all the morbidity. Perhaps this is why true-crime titles rivet us so, as opposed to, say, a thriller. For the inquisitors within us, these documentaries serve as venues that allow us to wear the proverbial detective hat. It demands, of course, that you have a stomach for grisly real occurrences. Armed with all the advantages of this genre, Elize Matsunaga is another worthy addition to Netflix's ever-expanding library of true-crime titles. This four-part series checks off all the major genre requisites for gripping television: a macabre incident, an enthralling investigation, an exploration of social stereotypes, with just the right measure of social commentary…

RATING 3.5/5

The series' fairly contemporary setting, with the timeline spanning from 2012 to 2019, sets it apart from the 90s true-crime titles such as Murder by the Coast, Abducted in Plain Sight, Murder Among the Mormons and The Keepers. Realising that such an event happened very much in our recent history enhances the tension and drama. In May 2012, the eponymous Elize Matsunaga shot down her husband, Marcos Matsunaga, and mutilated his corpse to erase evidence. Although we know that Elize is the killer, the series doesn't directly jump to this disclosure, and throughout the first episode, the narrative keeps subverting our expectations, veering towards angles that we hardly think of. This has the effect of making the reveals more rewarding.

Although this mini-series documents a real tragedy, there are some brilliant cinematic touches. After dismembering Morco's body, Elize disposes of it in garbage bags at multiple obscure locations. Later, while facing the camera, the erstwhile nursing intern shares how the patients in psychiatric hospitals are drugged and left to drool, unaware of their whereabouts, and the shot intercuts to one of the garbage bags lying at an unmanned location, suggesting a similar plight for her husband's remains. Another instance is how Elize's flummoxed state of mind, after she learns about Morco's illicit affair, is hypnotically represented by microscopic visuals of the bloodstream and a blurry giant wheel lit up by lighting. Perhaps my most favourite of the lot is how you see Elize recalling her husband's threat to shoot her down, and how the scene intercuts to medical examiners studying the bullet wounds in her husband's skull.

Having painted a comprehensive picture of the crime and criminal in the very first episode, you wonder what you are about to get in the three additional episodes. After all, we have seen and learned everything about the crime, right? Wrong. While the first episode essentially lays a foundation for the crime and repercussions, this is only the tip of the iceberg. The other episodes that delve into the couple's past justify their runtime. This is a documentary that understands that what incites a crime is often as gripping and dramatic as the crime itself. And there's an important question raised too. Given that Morco is the heir to an affluent family, as opposed to the modest Elize, the couple's contrasting milieus are brought into discourse. It all ends with a question: would people have cared had the victim been poor?

During the court trial, Elize's defense lawyer says that it's important to paint a sympathetic image to avoid a harsh sentence. Occasionally, the documentary itself may be a bit guilty of painting such an image of the killer. While its efforts to separate the vulnerable woman from her crime, is laudable—like that moment when she meets her grandmother after seven years during her parole—you do get the feeling that perhaps the filmmakers themselves sympathise with her.

Whether you buy this or not is a debate for another day. "There are some secrets I'll take to my grave," says Elize. It's a huge credit to this series that it manages to reveal quite a few of them.

STATE OF SIEGE: TEMPLE ATTACK

Cast: Akshaye Khanna, Sameer Soni, Parvin Dabas, Manjari Fadnis

Director: Ken Ghosh

Streaming on: Zee5

AVINASH RAMACHANDRAN

AKSHAYE KHANNA SHINES, BUT THE FILM FALTERS

Akshaye Khanna

Whenever a film begins with a counter-terrorism operation, we know that the operation is designed not to end well. When we see one too many smiles before the mission ends, we know danger awaits. When you have an NSG commando struggling to train his gun on a target due to PTSD, we know that this angle will be addressed, and redemption will ensue sometime. There's an air of predictability about State of Siege: Temple Attack.

Akshaye Khanna's Major Hanut Singh is a loose cannon who is constantly admonished by his commanding officer Col. Nagar (Parvin Dabas). Not a big fan of sticking to a plan, Singh constantly jumps the gun for the greater good, even in the face of overwhelming risks. It is with this cavalier attitude that Major Singh gets involved in a counter-terrorist operation inside the Krishna Dham Temple, Gandhinagar, Gujarat.

RATING 2.5/5

Much like there is an overcrowding of espionage thrillers in the Indian OTT space, it seems this is happening to counter-terrorist operations stories as well. We recently had another series, Avrodh: The Siege Within, on Sony LIV, to add on to what seems like revived interest in cinema jingoism. The novelty is beginning to wear off. The operations seem repetitive and jaded. Unless there is ingenuity in the chamber drama-esque proceedings of such films, the stories themselves seem like hollow excuses to string together some functional set pieces.

Also, there is a sense of weariness in how terrorists are being portrayed on screen. Of course, the identifiers are there in the names, their language, and their war cries, but should they all be written as unidimensional characters? Sure, terrorists don't necessarily need character arcs, but when all you get are excruciating stereotypes, it doesn't help retain your interest. We have a hot-headed terrorist, a naive and starry-eyed young one, a level-headed and hence, a leader figure type, and there's the dispensable strongman as well. We see these archetypes over and over again in these stories.

To the film's credit though, the temple takeover begins on a chilling note. Even before we can come to terms with automatic weapons being brandished inside a temple, there is bloodshed and indiscriminate killings, especially of two old women. The writers waste no time in setting things up, and the sound of the never-ending stream of bullets is unsettling. Unfortunately, this strong beginning fizzles out due to the generic writing that follows. Even the strong technical aspects of the film, especially the brilliant cinematography, can only do so much when the characters aren't etched properly. We are given backstories of a handful of hostages in an attempt to humanise them, but you don't really feel the impact. Akshaye Khanna's steely demeanour is impressive, but it isn't enough.

Keeping aside the middling attempt at retelling one of the most chilling terrorist attacks in India, what really pulls the film down is also its 'good Muslim-bad Muslim' template that feels more like an afterthought. Similarly, when the saffron-clad swamiji of the temple says, "Violence might pose a lot of questions, but love is the only answer," you aren't really moved; you are simply rolling your eyes.

The setting is familiar; there's a Gujarat CM whose favourite word is "saathiyon" (friends); his pet project is "Rajya Shining"; the genre lends itself naturally to overt machismo. And yet, State of Siege: Temple Attack can only deliver mildly satisfying returns.
